Kennedy Promises FULL AG INCOME PARITY

...70,000 Hear Standard Bearer Unveil Democratic Farm Program

Sioux Falls, S.D. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy Thursday offered American farmers a Democratic program promising "full parity of income" to replace Republican policies which, he said, have cut farmers' income 20% in 8 years.

The Democratic nominee addressed an estimated 70,000 persons in a drizzle of rain at the national plowing contest. The estimate was made by Maj. R. D. Chalberg of the South Dakota National Guard. Vice President Nixon, Kennedy's GOP rival, will unfold the Republican program here Friday.

Predicting that Nixon will use "much the same words that I use," Kennedy invited farmers to make their choice between the men and their parties on the basis of their records.

"By their fruits you shall know them," the Massachusetts senator said.

Looks Back To 1952

"In 1952 the Republicans promised not 90% of parity but full parity . . . Tomorrow, they will promise new abundance. And again Mr. Nixon will be among them.

"But the fruits of the GOP promises," Kennedy said, "have included a 20% drop in farm income and the destruction of thousands of family farms."

Kennedy added that "I can't believe the American farmer is ready to move in that direction again."

The crowd interrupted several times with applause and showed no disposition to leave while the rain drops got bigger and fell faster.

Kennedy, hatless and coatless, nevertheless announced that he would omit portions of his prepared text "so nobody catches pneumonia."

But, addressing newsmen working in front of him, he said he wanted them to understand he stands behind the full 6-point program set forth in his prepared text.

Kennedy labeled the program a "realistic" and an "honest" plan which, he said, will demand "work and sacrifice and discipline" before it liberates farmers from the cost-price squeeze.

Nixon mounts the same platform Friday to present the second installment of the GOP farm plan. He gave the first section, called "Operation Consume," at Guthrie Center, Iowa, last Friday.

For the hard-driving Kennedy, the major farm speech on the Burton Ode farm, plowing match site, was just one stop in a scheduled 16-hour day of stumping for farm votes in 5 states—Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Wyoming.

Fires Again At Nixon

The Democrat meanwhile fired another round at Nixon — a rebuke for the implication in a Nixon speech Wednesday that Kennedy's "naive" attitude toward Soviet Premier Khrushchev could lead the country "down the road to surrender."

"I would not cast aspersions upon any American," Kennedy said in Fort Dodge, Iowa.

"And I do not cast them by innuendo or by implication upon my opponent.

"He wants a just peace for the United States, and so does his party, and so do all Americans."

Kennedy bluntly told farm voters they cannot have high incomes without controls or without regard to the taxpayers' burden. Farmers recognize this, he said; they are "tired of grandiose promises and unfulfilled pledges and remedial gimmicks.

Emphasis On Income

His plan, he gave assurance, carries "as little government interference as possible," it deals basically with income instead of prices, the tall and tanned New Englander said, because:

"The farmer is the only man in our economy who has to buy everything he buys at retail, sells everything he sells at wholesale—and pay the freight both ways."

Kennedy spelled out his points:

1. Supports, quotas, loans and other devices would be scaled to produce "full parity of income" by a formula,

Student Help Asked To 'Win Uncommitted'

... Johnson Suggests Plan To Enthusiastic NU Audience

By Don Walton

Democratic vice presidential nominee Lyndon Johnson Thursday proposed a government-sponsored volunteer student program to aid humanity and win the uncommitted nations of the world to the cause of freedom.

The Texas senator dubbed the plan "Volunteers for Peace and Humanity."

Johnson offered his proposal in an afternoon address before more than 800 enthusiastic University of Nebraska students in the Nebraska Union ballroom.

The address highlighted a two-hour, whirlwind campaign visit to the Capital City enroute to a reunion with former President Harry Truman in Kansas City.

Johnson and his wife, Ladybird, were greeted at Municipal Airport by top party officials before a motorcade trip through downtown Lincoln.

Chilly temperatures and cloudy skies held street crowds to but a few hundred. Shoppers only stared as the Johnson parade rolled by.

The Senate majority leader was welcomed to the University by a cheering sidewalk crowd of 200.

Following the speech, he visited with a couple hundred persons at a hurried reception at the Cornhusker Hotel before returning to the airport.

Johnson proposed in his University address "to offer our young people an opportunity to serve humanity in the remote stretches of the world after they graduate from school."

This, he said, would be "service not only to the cause of peace but to the enrichment of their own lives."

The cost, Johnson noted, would be "little."

'Uncommitted Third'

The program would be aimed at the uncommitted third of the world, the senator suggested.

"In no field has our leadership been less imaginative and less vigorous than in that of our approach to the uncommitted nations," Johnson charged.

"What they . . . want and need is for our young people to come to them with open hearts and a desire to serve.

"What they want is to learn our skills so they can practice them themselves.

"I think the heart of young America yearns to respond to this call."

'Tap Idealism'

No obligation is more pressing, Johnson said, than to "tap the idealism of our youth."

Earlier, the senator referred to last Saturday's Cornhusker victory over the University of Texas at Austin.

Just as Texas (which attempted a two-point conversion following its second touchdown rather than a one point kick) would not settle for a tie against Nebraska, "I represent a party which is unwilling to settle for a tie" in the world conflict, Johnson declared.

In a question-and answer session following the address, Johnson:

—predicted Communism would place before the U.S. in coming months "a series of crises the like of which our nation has never known."

—suggested that Premier Khrushchev and Premier Castro "want what we have got," but "will win few converts in this country."

—endorsed peacetime GI bill legislation, and noted its passage would be more likely with a Democratic Congress and a Democratic President.

—declared that the U.S. "waited and waited, smiled and smiled, reacted to actions," and ultimately lost Cuban friendship through "our own inertia."

—favored an amended version of the National Defense Education Act loyalty oath.

STATE GETS FIRST SNOW AT CHADRON

Nebraska got its first touch of snow Thursday night at Chadron.

Light snow mixed with a slow, constant rain was reported.

The Weather Bureau estimated the rainfall at .10 of an inch.

Light rain also fell at Scottsbluff, North Platte, Imperial, McCook, Sidney, Ainsworth, Valentine and Alliance.

Brief downpours were reported in Southeast Nebraska at Lincoln and Beatrice.

Lincoln got .09 of an inch of moisture while Omaha received .03. Sidney got .66 and Imperial .27.

Thunderstorm activity filled the skies at Hastings and Norfolk.

Fall Is Here.

Fall began officially at 7 p.m. Thursday and the Weather Bureau initiates the first autumn day by calling for rather gloomy weather.

Considerable cloudiness is forecast for Friday with showers and thunder storms spreading easterly across the state.

Temperatures will be on the bright side, however, as slight warming trends are expected throughout the state.

Highs are expected to range from 55 to 65 in the panhandle and 65 to 70 elsewhere.

Lincoln had a high of 64 and a low of 55 Thursday.

—ASKS REDS TO JOIN U.N. FOR PEACE—

Ike Tosses Challenge At Communist World

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — President Eisenhower issued Thursday a massive challenge to the Communist world to pledge itself against use of force and subversion and join efforts to insure peace under the guardianship of the United Nations.

While Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev listened with expressionless intensity, the President challenged the Russians on such issues as disarmament, use of outer space, nuclear weapons control, and peaceful change through organized assistance in a burgeoning new world of independent nations.

Keynoting an historic diplomatic struggle in the U.N. General Assembly's 15th session, the President informed the attentive communists he wants talks on disarmament renewed at once. But he warned that disarmament cannot be brought about through oratory or propaganda.

Blasts Reds

His voice firm, clear and confident, the President took the Russians sharply to task as contributing to heightened tensions and told them the world is in danger of "war by miscalculation."

Protesting against attempts to subvert the restless continent of Africa, Eisenhower pictured it as an acid test of the U.N.'s future as a peace organization. He proposed broad programs of modernization and education for Africa, measures to insure it from outside aggravations and arms races, and organized aid to other developing areas in Asia, Latin America and the Middle East, all under U.N. guidance.

In effect, this was a challenge to the communists to work primarily through the United Nations in approaching the world's most dangerous problems.

Khrushchev, blinking occasionally but almost immobile with attention, failed to join in the applause when the President finished. And the Soviet leader's reply, when asked for comment on the President's address, was a curt: "I'm going to lunch."

Reacting as usual to a U.S. proposal, the Soviet news agency Tass commented that Eisenhower had virtually buried the idea of general and total disarmament. "Eisenhower again laid stress on arms control rather than on disarmament," the official Soviet news agency declared.

'Not For Abuse'

President Eisenhower pointedly reminded the Russians that the United Nations "is not an instrument for use or abuse" or for amplifying "the propaganda tunes of individual nations."

The general reaction among delegates in the crowded Assembly hall was that the President had made a constructive statement. Some were enthusiastic about it, and these included Africans, and Latin Americans. Communist bloc leaders, following Khrushchev's lead, were non-committal, but communist President Tito of Yugoslavia, who was to meet with Eisenhower later on, pronounced the American's address "a positive statement."

Speaking after Tito, Japanese Foreign Minister Zentaro Kosaka suggested urgently that the Security Council be enlarged so it would reflect the viewpoints of the U.N.'s many new members, particularly from Africa.

President Eisenhower, item by item, laid the U.S. position clearly on the line. Here are the outstanding things the President sought:

DISARMAMENT:

The communist's walkout from the disarmament commission in Geneva this year brought negotiations to an abrupt halt but "their unexplained action does not, however, reduce the urgent need for arms control."

"My country believes that negotiations can—and should—soon be resumed . . . if negotiations can be resumed it may be possible to deal particularly with two pressing dangers—that of war by miscalculation and that of mounting nuclear weapons stockpiles."

NUCLEAR WEAPONS:

"I propose that nations producing nuclear weapons immediately convene experts to design a system for terminating, under verification procedures, all production of fissionable materials for weapons purposes. That termination would take effect as soon as the agreed inspection system has been installed and is operating effectively, while progress in other disarmament fields is also being sought."

SECRECY:

"In an age of rapidly developing technology, secrecy is not only an anachronism—it is downright dangerous. To seek to maintain a society in which a military move can be taken in complete secrecy, while professing a desire to reduce the risk of war through arms control, is a contradiction.

OUTER SPACE:

The President warned that unless steps are taken now to ensure against military uses of outer space, the "point of no return" may soon be reached. He proposed agreement that no celestial body be subject to claims of any nation's sovereignty. The Russians already claim to have planted a Soviet flag on the moon.

He sought agreement against use of celestial bodies for warlike activities or to use satellites in outer space for weapons of mass destruction. He proposed all space craft launchings be verified by the U.N.

AFRICA:

The President urged pledges of noninterference in African nations' affairs, help to assure their security, emergency aid to the turbulent Congo, international assistance in a long-term African development program and programs of modernization and education. He proposed to rule out "subversion, force, propaganda or any other means" of interference, and sought a pledge against "generating disputes between states of this area or from encouraging them to wasteful and dangerous competition in armaments."

"If the United Nations system is successfully subverted in Africa," Eisenhower said, "the world will be on its way back to the traditional exercise of power politics in which small countries will be used as pawns by aggressive major powers. Any nation, seduced by glittering promises into becoming a catspaw for an imperialistic power, thereby undermines the United Nations and places in jeopardy the independence of itself and all others."

UNDERDEVELOPED COUNTRIES:

The President suggested intensified programs, under the U.N., of economic and social development assistance in developing areas such as Asia, the Middle East and Latin America.

FOOD FOR PEACE:

Eisenhower said the United States is ready to join with other U.N. members in a working scheme to feed needy areas, relying on the "advice and assistance of the food and agriculture organization," and added that he hoped "this Assembly will seriously consider a specific program for carrying forward the promising food for peace program."

RIGHTS OF SELF GOVERNMENT:

Eisenhower interpolated in his prepared speech a repetition of his proposal that there be "a universal plebiscite in which every individual in the world would be given the opportunity" to say whether he wanted the right of self government.

Morrison: 'Main Issue Now Truth'

Cooper 'Technically' Withdraws Charge: 'Can't Prove It'

By Don Walton

Democratic gubernatorial nominee Frank Morrison Thursday suggested that "the overriding issue (in his contest with Republican John Cooper) "is now who tells the truth."

Morrison spoke in reference to Cooper's charge that the Democrat had accepted a $7,500 campaign contribution from Omaha labor official Leonard Schaefer.

Morrison has denied it.

Cooper said in Omaha Thursday he has made a "technical" withdrawal of the charge.

"I'm in the same position that a prosecuting attorney often finds himself in," Cooper said.

"I believe the charge but I can't prove it without betraying a confidence and Morrison knows this.

"But since there is no physical proof of the charge, I don't intend to use it further in the campaign."

Morrison replied: "What is a 'technical' withdrawal? The charge is either true, or it is untrue.

"If it is true (and I have not told the truth), then I am unfit to be governor.

"If it is untrue, he is unfit to be governor."

Morrison said he will attempt to "set up the necessary machinery to put him under oath" to repeat the charge.

"I will deny it under oath," Morrison continued, "and we will determine who is telling the truth."

Whoever is truthful is "entitled to support of all voters," the Democrat suggested.

'No Substitute'

"There is no substitute for integrity."

Morrison also said he favors continuing the remaining two debates scheduled in a series of 4 sponsored as a public service by Lincoln Radio Station KRMQ.

Cooper has suggested he may call a halt to the series, charging that Morrison has violated a previous agreement between them to confine their discussion to debate topics.

Cooper said in Omaha that he "was wrong in saying that the burden of proof lay with my opponent."

And, he said, "I see nothing wrong with a political candidate accepting campaign contributions from union men."

—SENORITA SAYS 'DOFF'—

Census Men Distressed By 'Queen Of Undress'

Rio De Janeiro (AP) — A hot-tempered Brazilian nudist queen and her natural friends refused to stand up and be counted Thursday by anything less than a nude census taker.

Standing nude on a rocky beach of her private "Island of the Sun" in Rio Bay, she told a boatload of clothed census takers:

"If you want to count us, take off your clothes."

"But . . ." gasped one of the census takers.

"No buts," shouted back senorita Luz del Fuego, which means fireball. "You are welcome here, but this is my island and the rule is that anyone who comes here comes in the nude. When we go to Rio de Janeiro we have to dress. When you come here you have to undress."

Fireball, who is also a dancer and a stripper in clothed society, refused a compromise—a census taker in his shorts.

"All or nothing," she insisted.

After two hours of fruitless persuasion, the census men left. Their only success: Fireball agreed to put up their posters around the island, which proclaim: "Help Make the 1960 Census a Success."

As Fireball pointed out to the census men, she has the backing of the law. Brazilian courts have upheld her right to forbid clothed people on her island.

Last February, however, she made an exception at a carnival party where police presence is required. She let the policemen wear hats and belts for their clubs so they would be distinguishable from her guests.

Girl, 9, Victim Of Cuban Terrorists In N.Y.

Khrushchev Continues To Complain

. . . About Restrictions

New York (AP)—A 9-year-old girl, a sightseer from Venezuela, Thursday became the first victim of political terrorists, who have scourged New York with the advent of the United Nations General Assembly. She died of a stray bullet's wound, inflicted during a restaurant brawl by pro-Castro Cuban hoodlums.

The child was Magdalina Urdaneto of Caracas, shot in the back as she lunched with her parents Wednesday in the El Prado restaurant on 8th Ave. in the 50's.

A gang of Castro sympathizers invaded the cafe to beat up a band of 5 demonstrators opposed to the Cuban regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro, who is here for the U.N. meeting. A barroom brawl ensued and shots were fired by the pro-Castro group, who outnumbered their rivals 3 to one.

Neither the little Urdaneto girl nor her parents were in any way concerned in the melee. She was the innocent victim of a wild-shooting gunman. She died early Thursday in St. Clare's hospital.

Despite this evidence of the lethal tension induced by the presence here of bitterly controversial heads of alien states, Soviet Prime Minister Khrushchev continued to complain about a government limitation that confines him to Manhattan as a security measure.

"My strolls in free America are not too free," Khrushchev told reporters from the balcony of his Soviet U.N. headquarters on Park Ave. He inaugurated the balcony appearances Wednesday and continued them Thursday.

In Washington, the State Department expressed regret and deep sympathy to the Urdaneto girl's parents and to the Venezuelan government. Press officer Lincoln White called the child a victim of "an aggressive attack yesterday by adherents of the Fidel Castro regime in a public restaurant in New York City."

"Will Shock Free World"

"This kind of criminal activity that resulted in the ruthless slaying of this innocent bystander will undoubtedly shock people throughout the free world."

In Havana, government-controlled newspapers claimed the restaurant invaders were anti-Castro members of the White Rose" organization, rather than pro-Castro men. This version was distributed by the Cuban news agency.

However, police disputed this. Among the men attacked in the cafe were at least two exiles from Cuba, who came here from Miami to demonstrate against Castro. And a man arrested early Thursday and described as a member of the raiding party was quoted by police as admitting the invaders were pro-Castro. He is Santiago Larroque, who denied firing the gun. A man with a hook in place of a missing hand was sought as the actual slayer of the Urdaneto girl.

The rival Castro groups have been among the wildest of the thousands of demonstrators who have surged along Manhattan's streets since the arrival early this week of such foreign dignitaries as Castro, Khrushchev, Yugoslav President Tito and Hungarian Red boss Janos Kadar.

Castro confirmed that Khrushchev has accepted his invitation to visit Cuba, but said no date had been set. The two met publicly for the first time Tuesday when Khrushchev came to Harlem.

Moon Shot Is Readied

Rocket On Cape Pad

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP) — The moon moved into a favorable position as a target Thursday and a powerful U.S. rocket is poised for an attempt to launch the first lunar satellite.

A towering Atlas-Able rocket stands on its pad here, awaiting the signal to blast off on the exacting task of propelling the satellite deep into space and guiding it into orbit about the moon, some 230,000 miles away.

The 388-pound payload, called Pioneer VI, is crammed with instruments designed to send back more information about the moon's environment than any previous space probe.

The most favorable launching time is a 5-day period starting Thursday.

If the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is unable to fire the Atlas-Able in this time, the shot will be postponed until the next ideal period, which comes every 28 days.

MACMILLAN WILL ARRIVE NEXT WEEK

. . . May Meet With K.

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—The decision of Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to fly to New York Sunday will bring into the U.N. Assembly arena 3 of the 4 principals of the mid-May Summit fiasco in Paris. But chances of a big power Summit conference were dim.

"The prime minister has absolutely no intention of going in for summitry on this occasion," a British delegation spokesman told reporters. Macmillan was the prime promoter of the Paris session.

President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Khrushchev already are here. French President Charles de Gaulle, the fourth at the Paris summit, has given no indication of coming to New Hork.

The British delegation spokesman said Macmillan will confer with Eisenhower while he is in New York and will be happy to meet any other government chiefs, including Khrushchev should an occasion arise.

The prime minister plans to meet Eisenhower in New York Tuesday and is expected to speak in the Assembly general debate two days later.

Full Parity Ag Income Is Promised

Kennedy said, which "can be mathematically ascertained and computed." His definition did not go beyond this:

"Parity of income is that income which gives average producers a return on their invested capital, labor and management equal to that which similar, or comparable, resources earn in non-farm employment."

2. That income would be attained by managing the supply of farm commodities—holding supply to the demand which is generated at parity income prices. Government purchases and loans would be needed "at certain times," Kennedy said.

But a basic instrument he said, would be supply management controls including marketing quotas, land retirement and other devices—as required by each specific commodity. The goal in each case would be a balance of supply with demand.

FOOD FOR THE HUNGRY

3. Excess capacity would go to "feed the hungry and undernourished here and abroad." The nominee called for a "full-scale" school lunch program, a food stamp program, and direct relief distribution.

"All three of these efforts . . . have been offered in recent years by the Democrats in Congress—and halted by the Republican opposition," Kennedy said. "In 1961 they will go into effect."

He coupled with this a new and expanded "food for peace" program, for disposal of surpluses to needful nations of the world.

4. A "sound system of soil conservation" would be established "which does not destroy entire farms and which is administered at the local levels by local farmers."

5. Farm credit agencies would be revamped to provide farmers with the credit needed for modernization and expansion "at interest rates they can afford."

6. Special programs would be developed for low-production farmers having gross incomes under $2,500. These would be aimed, the Democrat said, at enlarging the earning opportunities of such farmers by reorganizing and enlarging farms, introducing new rural industries, and facilitating transfers to non-farm jobs.

This second day of Kennedy's current 19-day airborne sweep from the Atlantic to the Rockies began with a breakfast address in Sioux City, Iowa. A stop at the stockyards followed, then a flight to Fort Dodge. Other stops, besides the plowing contest and an airport reception at Sioux Falls, were scheduled for Mitchell, S.D., Fargo, N.D., Billings, Mont., and Cheyenne, Wyo.

K. Contends Ike Speech Conciliatory

New York (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev said Thursday night that he considered President Eisenhower's address before the United Nations as "conciliatory."

"The President must have been ashamed of the U2 incident since he did not mention it," Khrushchev said. "He only saw fit to mention the RB-47."

In his address, Eisenhower denounced Russia for shooting down the American RB-47 plane over international waters.

Khrushchev was asked what he thought was affirmative in the speech given by Eisenhower.

"Its conciliatory tone," he replied.

In reference to Eisenhower's African proposals, Khrushchev said that "I saw nothing new in them."

LUMUMBA ASKS BIGGER U.N. GUARD

Leopoldville, The Congo (AP)—Patrice Lumumba, deposed prime minister of the Congo, has asked that the United Nations guard around his house be heavily reinforced, a U.N. spokesman said Thursday. Congolese soldiers tried to lynch Lumumba last week.

Col. Joseph Mobutu, who seized power in a bloodless military coup Sept. 14, has several times sent his men ostensibly to arrest Lumumba, but made no attempt to break through the British-officered Ghana U.N. units guarding Lumumba's home.

Instead, Mobutu demanded that Ghana troops be withdrawn from the Congo immediately for "interfering in the internal affairs of the Congo." It's unlikely his request will be complied with.

But Ghana troops guarding Lumumba were reinforced Wednesday with Sudanese, which may help to correct a widely-held impression among anti-Lumumba Congolese that the Ghanians were saving Lumumba from arrest because he is or was a personal friend of President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana.

ITU Leader Calls For Big Confederation

Washington (UPI) — The president of the International Typographical Union called for establishment of an industrial union embracing employes in the printing, publishing and paper industries to combat what he called a "monopolistic trend" in the publishing industry.

ITU President Elmer Brown said such a federation was necessary to prevent the destruction of individual craft unions in the printing, publishing and related industries.

Asserting that disunity was hurting craft unions in their negotiations with the publishing industry, Brown said that only by uniting together in a departmentalized federation could the various publishing unions avoid "disaster."

In an appeal to delegates to the annual convention of the United Papermakers and Paperworkers Union to join in a federation movement, the ITU president said a trend to monopoly in the publishing and over-all communications industry was "a great and growing danger to a free America."

Condition Of Man Knifed By Wife Is 'Fair'

A 42-year-old Lincoln man who suffered severe knife cuts Wednesday night was listed in fair condition Thursday at a local hospital.

His wife, 36, is still being held on an open charge. Police say she has admitted cutting her husband after an argument.

Police say she also stabbed her husband Sept. 8 after another argument but her husband at that time declined to press charges. He did not require hospitalization after the first incident.

1,000 Cheer Bishop Casey On Return From Rome

The Most Rev. James V. Casey, Catholic bishop of the Lincoln Diocese, greeted Lincolnites Thursday upon his return from Rome with a special blessing of Pope John XXIII for "each priest, sister and laymen of the diocese."

Amid the cheers of some 1,000 parochial junior and senior high school students, nuns and clergy, who staged a welcome to climax his 3-week trip in Europe, Bishop Casey stated the highlight of his trip was the audience with the head of the Roman Catholic Church.

"It was thrilling to meet the warm and affable man who is the vicar of Christ," he said.

The bishop gave the pontiff a report of the diocese and presented him with a financial gift and spiritual bouquet, which included 500 masses promised to be said by the priests of the diocese.

Pleased With Diocese

"I asked the Holy Father specifically about the Lincoln Diocese and he answered he was pleased with the sacrifice the people there are making for the good of the faith," the Bishop said.

Bishop Casey, in a lighter note, told the gathering that upon removing his hat when he entered the Pope's room, the Pope remarked, "Say you haven't got much hair."

"Almost as much as you," Bishop Casey said he replied.

The Bishop noted that, his short audience with the Pope allowed time for only church matters, and the world situation and politics were not mentioned.

However, he said, as he visited throughout the parishes, he was asked how much Communism there is in Nebraska, and the people showed deep concern about the world situation in much the same way as Americans.

Friendship Noted

The Bishop said he encountered nothing but friendship during his visits to Italy, Spain, Ireland, southern France, Switzerland, Germany and Austria, but added, "I'm so glad to be back home."

The Rt. Rev. John Flynn, in welcoming the bishop at the homecoming and birthday celebration at Pius X High School Stadium, described him as "a truly great shepherd of souls" and presented him a birthday gift from Lincoln priests on the occasion of his 46th birthday

To the spirited tunes of "God Bless America" and "Happy Birthday," the bishop's mother, Mrs. Nina Casey of Osage, Ia., who accompanied her son on the European trip, was presented a bouquet of roses.

Pius X cheerleaders climaxed the stadium reception with a typical football game yell:

"What's the matter with the bishop?"

"He's all right," cheered the crowd.

Red Repression In Tibet Heats East-West Clash

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union met head-on in their first bitter clash of the General Assembly session. The issue was a charge of Communist Chinese repression in Tibet.

The General Assembly's 21-nation Steering Committee voted to put the charges on the Assemly's agenda for a full-scale debate later in the session despite bitter Soviet protests.

The Tibetan item was one of a large number approved by the committee. One other proposal brought a flareup—Algeria. Although the committee accepted a proposal to hold an Assembly discussion on the nationalist rebellion in the French North African territory, France objected strenuously and said it again would boycott the debate.

Will Disregard

Ambassador Armand Berard of France warned the committee that France would disregard the Assembly's verdict on Algeria as it has in the past because President Charles De Gaulle's government feels the U.N. has no right to consider the problem. He warned that the debate itself might only make it difficult for De Gaulle to reach a solution of the 6-year-old conflict.

The debates on Algeria and Tibet will be held later this fall, probably in the Assembly's political committee, which includes all members of the United Nations.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin said that the debate on Tibet will be "nothing but an attempt to renew the cold war."

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth promptly replied that the Assembly has a right to discuss Communist Chinese suppression of the 1958 revolt in Tibet because "the fundamental rights of the Tibetan people continued to be systematically disregarded and equally systematically destroyed."

'Conrad Is Candidate Of Boyle'

. . . Says Sen. Curtis

Lincoln Star Special

Blair—Republican Sen. Carl Curtis charged Thursday night that his opponent, Robert Conrad, is the candidate of Democratic National Committeeman Bernard Boyle.

Curtis then asked what Conrad's position is on a number of issues, including secondary boycotts, federal aid to education, the right to work law and agriculture.

"Can he inform us, or must we direct our inquiries to the boss, Mr. Bernard Boyle?" Curtis asked.

The senator spoke at a Republican fund-raising dinner.

Curtis said he introduced a bill to outlaw secondary boycotts, opposes "general" federal aid to education and supports "voluntary unionism."

In agriculture, he said, he introduced legislation reducing capital gains tax rates for livestock, allowing farmers to deduct for income tax purposes expenditures made for soil conservation and enacting a commission to develop greater industrial uses for farm surpluses.

Princess Grace Will Campaign For Jack

Frankfurt (UPI)—Princess Grace of Monaco will campaign for Sen. John F. Kennedy among U.S. servicemen in Europe, John F. Ryan, a businessman here who is the Democratic presidential candidate's overseas campaign manager, said.

Ryan said the former Grace Kelly of Philadelphia and the Hollywood movies has joined his staff and will barnstorm for Kennedy in France and Italy.

Deathbed Alert Given As Prank Becomes Tragedy

Dothan, Ala. (AP) — "Don't play jokes like I did."

Earl Lewis uttered that warning just before he died in a Dothan hospital after a prank turned him into a human torch and left his upper body horribly charred.

The 32-year-old peanut farmer of near Columbia, Ala., told this deathbed story:

He and his wife went to the home of a Negro helper to take food. As a practical joke, he wore a false nose and false glasses.

The Negro, holding a kerosene lamp when he answered the door, became frightened and threw the lamp in Lewis' face.

Ike's Peace Plan Brushed Off By Reds

United Nations, N.Y. (UPI — The communist bloc brushed off President Eisenhower's peace program without a second thought. The African states which would benefit by it hailed it as a godsend.

The reaction to the President's 5-point program and his call for world aid program through the United Nations for emerging African states was cut and dried along ideological lines. Only independent-minded Wladyslaw Gomulka of Poland reserved decision in the communist bloc.

"It is too early yet," for comment, said the Polish Communist Party leader.

But Sylvanus Olympio, prime minister of the new African Togolese Republic, was ecstatic.

"It was wonderful, simply wonderful" he said of the Eisenhower proposal of help to Africa.

"What else can we say but thank you, President Eisenhower," he added.

But a high Russian official said there was "nothing new" in the Eisenhower policy speech. "Old stuff" said another Russian.

Said Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev: "I am going to lunch."

Yugoslav Paper Says U.S. Not Being Good Host

Belgrade, Yugoslavia (AP)—The U.S. government was accused by Borba, official Yugoslav organ, of failing to meet its obligations as a host.

The paper said it would be hard to find words sufficient to condemn the action of American authorities toward President Tito as chief of a country maintaining friendly ties with the United States, (The editorial was published before Presidents Tito and Eisenhower talked together privately in New York in what was described as a cordial atmosphere).

Borba said that Wednesday night, an hour after the American government expressed regret for demonstrations by Chetnik-Ustashi (Nazi collaborators) emigres in front of the Yugoslav mission, another group of demonstrators repeated the performance.

This took place despite the persuasions of the American government that it will "do all to prevent new anti-Yugoslav outbursts of Chetnik and Ustashi emigres insulting our Country and her president," Borba said.

Again, Cooper Morrison Will Share Platform

Rival candidates for governor John Cooper and Frank Morrison will be speakers Friday at a luncheon meeting of "The Committee for Amendment Two."

Amendment Two, which will be voted upon at the Nov. 8 election, would revise the Nebraska constitution so as to permit Nebraska corporations to sell preferred stock without giving voting power.

"This will be a meeting of business, professional and agricultural leaders who feel that this amendment is sorely needed to improve the business climate in Nebraska," said John Eidam, president of the Omaha Bank for Cooperatives and chairman of the committee.

Nebraska is one of only two states in the country without a provision for differentials between preferred and common stock, Eidam said.

The amendment was placed on the ballot by the 1959 legislature.

Khrush Talk Today Closely Kept Secret

By The Associated Press

Nikita Khrushchev speaks to the U.N. General Assembly in the late forenoon today one year and 5 days after he first went before that body with a sweeping proposal for world disarmament. His text for this time was a closely guarded secret.

In the 1959 speech the Soviet premier called complete and general disarmament, by treaty and under strict international control, the "lever by grasping which mankind could be stopped from backsliding into the abyss of war."

The plan he presented called for doing away with armies, navies, air forces, nuclear weapons, military rockets, leaving only domestic police forces for keeping internal order.

Khrushchev brought applause from his audience only once during that 65-minute speech. It came from the Soviet bloc countries when he plugged for seating Red China in the U.N.

Western delegates called the 1959 speech a propaganda stroke that promised pie in the sky without real hope of getting it. Disarmament negotiations since that time have made no progress.

U.S. Position Unmistakable

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

There were no surprises in the United Nations address by President Eisenhower. But with a calm approach relatively free from the usual cliches of the cold war, the President firmly defined the position of the United States at a strategically important moment. It is not expected that Russia will find much room for agreement with the President's words for they have heard them before and refused to listen.

But Eisenhower spoke at one of the greatest gatherings of world leaders that history has ever recorded. And he spoke at a time when the cause of neutrality is on a definite upswing. In his remarks he capitalized on the growth of new nations and their natural desires to remain outside the direct influence of any great world power. His denunciation of any outside power's interference in the affairs of the Congo and other newly emerging independent states of Africa did not fall on deaf ears. The United Nations was filled with representatives from these countries as well as heads of state from Middle East countries and the continent of Europe.

Remarks Well Placed

The President called for economic and technical assistance to the Congo through the United Nations, not directly from one country to another as the U.S. does at the present. It is going to be difficult for Russia's Premier Khrushchev to disagree with this. He could hardly do so without admitting that his nation's objectives were Communist control, not constructive assistance.

Khrushchev has a way of twisting national sovereignty to the advantage of the Kremlin but such twisting would be obvious in comparison with the words of President Eisenhower. Khrushchev's idea of neutrality means every nation free to pursue whatever course it desires. In effect, this is a policy of survival of the fittest under which smaller nations would have no chance whatsoever.

The President went on to emphasize the importance of the United Nations in disarmament, control of nuclear weapons and agreements on outer space. His disarmament proposals were the same as the U.S. has made for some time now — complete elimination of the weapons of war with reciprocal inspections. He proposes that nuclear weapons be dealt with separately and that a team of experts determine the means of inspection.

He wants space and the planets there observed as neutral territory and never as instrumentalities of war. In these remarks it was plain to see the course which the United States is intent upon following. There is nothing complicated about the course since it is founded on freedom. The President's words were received at the U.N. with calm on all sides. The important thing is that our ideas and objectives have been clearly outlined prior to the address to follow from Khrushchev.

There is still speculation that the moody Khrushchev will spring some sort of surprise when he takes the U.N. platform but he will present quite a contrast if he uses this as another opportunity to propagandize the world. Denunciations of U.S. imperialism in the face of Eisenhower's words would certainly have a peculiar ring.

The Russian premier is on the spot to make some sort of a proposal to the world body. Eisenhower's entire program was a constructive one and Russia is now challenged to do the same. With his constant inclusion of the U.N. in the settlement of issues which now separate the East and West, Eisenhower should have hit pay dirt in the minds of many delegates from foreign lands.

The words of the President and world developments of late serve to underline the fact that stringent alignment of nations into one camp or another is becoming a thing of the past. The East and West as we know them today are not likely to see any substantial change in the years ahead. In a sense, this is a tribute to the cause of communism because it means that it has attained a position of influence in the world. Nations which might not want to align themselves with communism do not, on the other hand, want to offend Russia.

Now A World Influence

Not only that, but they prefer their own brand of democracy, not necessarily ours. Eisenhower's program also shows our growing awareness of this fact — something we have been too prone to ignore in the past. More and more, the key to future security lies in the path of nations independent of one another, not closely associated as in the past. How Khrushchev intends to counteract this remains to be seen but it would certainly seem to serve the cause of democracy better than it would the cause of communism.

DREW PEARSON

Play For Nasser Turning Sour

NEW YORK — The State Department's secret plan to make President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt a coveted member of the U.N. Security Council may be in for trouble. It was hatched before U.S. diplomats had any idea that Nasser's United Arab Republic was going to pay the valet of King Hussein of Jordan to plant a bomb in the king's palace for the purpose of doing away with him.

There was a time when it was more or less fashionable to attempt to blow up kings, presidents and potentates. People thought nothing of it. Of course it did lead to war, as at Sarajevo in 1914. Even so, it continued a fashionable sports until about three weeks ago.

Then the Organization of American States, meeting in San Jose, Costa Rica, reversed this and became quite unreasonable about the attempted murder of President Betancourt of Venezuela. It went to unusual lengths to condemn and blacklist Generalissimo Trujillo of the Dominican Republic for attempting to do away with Betancourt.

The United States joined in this condemnation, even moved to curtail Dominican sugar imports. So, having blacklisted one country for attempting to murder a president, it will be highly embarrassing for the United States to back Nasser for the highly important spot on the U.N. Security Council.

Shrewd timing was behind the White House announcement that the Panamanian flag would be permitted to fly in certain places over the Panama Canal zone, thus acknowledging Panama's technical right of sovereignty over the Canal.

The U.S. Army and many congressmen have long opposed this. They feared it would be an entering wedge by which Panamanian politicians would later pull a Nasser and demand the canal. The flag dispute has continued between the United States and Panama for almost 50 years, and the reason Eisenhower chose last week to make his announcement was because of Mr. Nixon.

On Nov. 3, which is Panama's "Fourth Of July," a new Panamanian demonstration was planned against the United States similar to last year's riot in which the flag was spat upon and torn to pieces. Nixon strategists were worried over the idea of anti-American riots in Panama just five days before the American people went to the polls November 8 to choose between Kennedy and Nixon. It was feared that these riots would recall our other serious troubles in Latin America.

So, after waiting until Congress was out of town, the White House announced this major concession to Panama regarding sovereignty over the Canal Zone.

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

Cambridge, From Skunksville

By MONA B. PARKER

A Bertrand Herald writer and his family and his house and his lot are being what he calls "dominated" by a trumpet vine. The vine simply defies all control and is even now reaching for the roof. It has been cut back, cut down, sprayed, mowed over, dug out, frostbitten, but it only comes back, healthier and more determined than ever. A concrete sidewalk was put across it. It found a tiny crack in the cement and came right through. It has pushed through the foundation and is making vigorous growth through a crack in the baseboard into the bathroom. Now it has been covered by a step, 10 inches of concrete, and its unwilling owner—or slave—writes that "each day I look to see if it has penetrated that. I fully expect it to."

The state press is pretty much in unified agreement that autumn in Nebraska is by all odds the most delightful time of year . . .

Velma Price, who edits the Newman Grove Reporter, likes September and doesn't mind saying so. The weather is ideal, she says, and things are back to normal again with school in session.

"Most of us enjoy hearing the school bell. Perhaps we enjoy it most when we do not have to answer its call."

Fae Montgomery of the Morrill Mail has some advice for mothers whose sons are going off to college or camp or elsewhere with stationery and writing equipment tucked under their arms. Their intentions are the best, she agrees. It's just that there never seems to be any time left over from everything else for writing home.

"I have sent along with our boy when he was on vacation, etc. self-addressed cards. They always got back to us—but in his suitcase."

With some of their youngsters departing for college and other points away from home, the Dawson County Sebergers have been reduced to a mere half dozen. Mrs. Seberger writes in the Herald that she's going to take a leaf out of the table "and push us together a little bit to cover the absent ones, also so we can pass the butter without unduly stretching."

☆ ☆ ☆

The Vets Club at Falls City called the Journal there offering all troops on hand to handle whatever trouble they were having at the county jail. They had noted the flag flying upside down, a traditional distress signal, and thought perhaps a prisoner riot was in progress.

☆ ☆ ☆

Cambridge has had and is still having a particularly smelly local problem. The town is literally being overrun by skunks, with the striped kitty population definitely on the increase. There is hardly a frame building in town, the Clarion reports, that doesn't have an unwanted family of the animals residing under it.

The editorial suggestion is that an expert trapper or two be employed immediately in order to get rid of the unwelcome guests before they get holed in for the winter.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Oleans Chronicle noted that 35 of the perfumed pussies had been picked up . . .

"How does one pick up skunks, we ask?"

And still in the area of undesirables . . .

A feminine columnist for the Ord Quiz very neatly tied in a package and dropped in the creek those of her acquaintance who take it upon themselves to decide her life for her and go around saying so . . .

"Sometime ago a friend tattled on another who supposedly told a group of gals who use malice instead of cream at their morning coffees, that I spend too much money on home furnishings. I can't see cause for disturbance as long as I have the postman leave the bills in my own mailbox."

Kennedy Farm Plans

Reports on Sen. John Kennedy's answer to the farm problem were not as encouraging as expected. Basically, what Kennedy appears to have failed to do is spell out exactly where he is going to support farm prices. He spoke of 'full parity of income" and presented an outline for bringing production and consumption into balance.

But he did not specifically state that he would support prices at any certain level. It would not be enough to bring production and consumption into balance as this would still leave farmers to the mercy of the market place and subject them to lower and lower prices for their products. Such a balance is not price control but merely control over the government's cost of the program.

This is laudable but it is not the answer farmers are looking for. Vice President Nixon has also failed so far in this regard —passing out a worked-over version of the soil bank program and promises of a stand on price supports at a later date. Kennedy has said he stands firmly behind the Democratic party farm plank which calls for 90 per cent supports but he was not reported to have repeated this position in his Sioux Falls, S.D., farm address.

There is one other hitch in what Kennedy said which he will have to clear up. How he is going to get farmers to comply with production controls which would be used? Production in excess of controls could not be marketed with a parity price certificate but that might not stop farmers from still growing a great excess of grains.

Production must be controlled beyond that which would come under any general price support program. If unlimited production is permitted outside the support program, then that is exactly what will happen and the old falling price and surplus problem will be as bad as ever.

Speed And Longevity

It is true that one can leave Nebraska in the morning by jet and theoretically before sunset be in any one of the major capitals of the world.

It took Lewis and Clark months to get from St. Louis to Oregon, but anyone now can reach the West Coast from here in three to four hours. Of course, at that speed no one can stop and make talk with the Indians, or even take note of how the corn is standing down below.

But if all this is fast then one is not prepared for a recent word of caution from the International Civil Aviation Organization. It admonished travelers not to be too hasty demanding air speeds of 2,500 miles an hour.

The ICAO was not against such speed or against people flying that fast, which is now or soon will be possible. It is worrying more about the initial cost of getting into the high speed business. It fears that commercial aviation is not yet ready to make such service pay.

It is hard to comprehend such changes as have affected human beings in the matter of just a few decades. There are still many people who can clearly remember when the fastest thing about was the 8 o'clock Burlington passenger, and when a runaway, with horses bolting at the blinding speed of almost 20 miles an hour, was just about as far as anyone could carry hot rodding.

One cannot make a firm case against tremendous speed. There is no reason why one should take eight months to trek to the West Coast when a few hours will do the job. But on the other hand what has one seen on the way? What notes can one jot down enroute? When flying speed reaches 2,500 miles per hour we will just about be fresh out of human experiences. What the world more needs is something that will make the hours and the days and the years three times as long as they are. This business of getting from here to eternity in sixty minutes is playing hob with the thing we used to call longevity.

Seaway In Difficulties

When the long wanted St. Lawrence seaway became a reality it was expected that great things would come from it immediately. It was stimulating to think that transatlantic shipping could proceed inland as far as Chicago and 12 other inland lake ports in order to dock to deliver and take on shipping.

It is disappointing to learn that for the second straight year the seaway has been a flop and that the federal government's $131 million investment in it is yet to be justified.

Quite a number of things are wrong. In many places the channel and the harbors are not deep enough for many ocean going carriers. The new ports lack experience in handling the shipping and, as bad as anything, the stevedoring has been nothing to speak of. Now a longshoremen's strike has been going upward of three weeks for reasons that are largely obscure.

These difficulties do not mean that the seaway is doomed to failure, but they do indicate that there is a good deal yet to be done before it can become a success. Obviously, an over-conservative administration and a budget slashing Congress will have to come around to the reality that further harbor and channel deepening appropriations will have to be made to save the project. The Interstate Commerce Commission, which has fumbled shipping rates, will have to learn a good deal more about the new facility, and the new ports will have to do a better job of taking care of the business.

The nation is now committed to the seaway and there is no question of its ultimate usefulness. The Middle West which is to be the special beneficiary must take a keener interest in it—which is something it has not as yet done.

Sagging Economy Being Overlooked

WASHINGTON—When Republicans commune in private about their election prospects they worry most over the economic indicators which continue to reflect a stale, slow pace with no relief in sight.

When Democrats talk together they complain that their young Boston candidate is proving to be more of a wry Yankee than a fighting Irishman. Harvard, Sen. John F. Kennedy's alma mater and a main source of his brain trust, is almost as unpopular with many of the local leaders as it was with the late Senator McCarthy.

His party's anxiety about the economic situation has been communicated to President Eisenhower and he in turn has been conferring with his economic advisors and the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. No new moves have been announced, however, and the time is short for anything that would be effective except as propaganda.

Politically, the bright side for Republicans is that any real recession would be the heritage of the next president and that the national emotions are centered upon foreign affairs anyway. They still must be concerned that the drop in jobs and profits tends to center on such crucial states as California, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

On the Democratic side it is by now clear that many party leaders really did not know much about the candidate they nominated at Los Angeles. They are not made at him, they are confused—and what confuses them is his detachment, his unshakable poise whether he is confronting petulant ministers or Nixon distortions of his remarks.

They knew, of course, that he had written books. What they seem to have thought also was that his having former Mayor "Honey" Fitzgerald for a grandfather automatically assured them of a warm personality eager to do the partisan in-fighting most Democrats have shied from during the Eisenhower years.

A beginning has been made by Chairman J. William Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, who can command an audience for what he chooses to say about the troubled state of foreign affairs. Fulbright summoned a press conference to rebut the vice-president's contention that such difficulties ought to be dropped from the public dialogue while Khrushchev is attending the United Nations General Assembly.

Kennedy is entitled to more of this support and there are plenty of articulate senators on his side identified with all the prominent issues. Yet if he who must lead the charge if it is to be successful in dissipating the reserve toward his candidacy which politicians freely admit now exists.

In the big cities which dominate the big states, that reserve is particularly hazardous to the Kennedy chances. It was thought that he was a city type who would automatically win the franchise of city voters. This has not proved to be so.

Johnson Visit

Lincoln, Neb.

The University Young Democratic Club has been lambasted by Mr. H. H. Thompson in The Star of Sept. 20 for their efforts in promoting a warm reception of Sen. Lyndon Johnson's visit at the University Student Union for a convocation Thursday, Sept. 22. This letter had the earmarks of a release by the publicity agents of a candidate for governor or Congress, or both. Such remarks should not be identified with either a Republican or Democrat, but recognized as coming from selfish, arrogant people who like to consider themselves as self-made. Mr. Thompson's remarks are considered a "low blow."

The publicity of this nature could be construed by some as saying that Chancellor Hardin and his excellent staff at the university are permitting civic and political affairs on the campus to go unnoticed. Isn't this type of promotion considered as legal, lawful and in good faith?

Such dissenters should remember that "there is no place like Nebraska," and perhaps should take a vacation in Cuba to improve their attitude and respect for these fine young men and women on the campus at the University of Nebraska regardless of their party affiliation.

Weak Farm Minority

Lincoln, Neb.

Rural Nebraskans must take a protective, selfish interest in the farm program or be wiped out of investment and income. During the decade, national income has gone up 38 per cent while rural income has dropped 29 per cent. The spread of 67 per cent is a long way from parity.

When the farm parity law was passed at the beginning of the first world war, it did exactly what was intended by leveling out the price of what the farmer bought with the price of what he had to sell. They were family-size farms at that time. The suitcase wheat farmers took legal but unethical advantage of the law and threw a monkey wrench into the sincere farm program. The machine age added another stumbling block of higher operating costs.

Nebraska is the most essentially agricultural state in the nation. What few industrial plants it has depend essentially on farm crops and farm consumption. W. J. Bryan said that if the farm were wiped out, grass would grow in the streets of the cities and towns.

Farm administration is a political matter because it is governmentally controlled, but it is not a proper subject for partisan bias. Republicans and Democrats are equally responsible for indifference to the parity equation between the field and factory, the food producer and the food consumer. Nationally the farmers have become a weak minority element at the polls. They were weak years ago when under dynamic leadership the Farmers Alliance or the Populist party promoted a revolution that got for them what they demanded as their rights.

Without regard to party affiliation, the voters in this election year should cast their ballots for candidates who are imbued with a philosophy, not merely a smiling promise, for the best interest of the most important industry of this hard-working prairie state. Small towns will continue to lose population as the profits of grain and livestock culture decline more each year. It is too much to hope, but a return to the family farm would restore parity and bring back social and economic peace.

Counting To Ten

Lincoln, Neb.

Our boy, Nixon, gave us quite a talk on the farm question, but it wasn't very new stuff. I can't go along with him on his dig at Kennedy about an apology or regrets or whatever it was.

I can't find anyone who goes along with me, either. Mr. K. was up against a dead end at the summit conference. He used the U-2 to kill it. Had Ike humbled himself and apologized, Mr. K. would have had to dig up some other phony thing. That would have shown him up to the world. Ike would have come out a bigger hero than when he stormed the beaches at Normandy. Everyone would have known the apology was a real slick trick.

On several occasions, I think Ike would have done well to count to 10 before he spoke, such as saying he knew of the U-2 flights and that they would continue. I may be wrong.

The Award

Ames, Neb.

Democratic Senators Humphrey and Morse have both accused John Kennedy of trying to buy the White House. Now we see that a Democratic publicity man has offered a $25 award to the University of Nebraska fraternity or sorority house which displays the most impressive banners and cheers when Lyndon Johnson visits Lincoln.

The Democrats have not hesitated in the past to buy the public votes with their welfare state programs, but to try to buy applause shows in what bad straits the Democrats find themselves.

Antelope Dam Gets OK From Army Engineers

Decision Subject Only To 'Minor Detail' Clarification

Construction of the Antelope Creek Dam-Reservoir on the southeast edge of Lincoln has been given the green light by the Army Corps of Engineers in Washington, D.C.

A spokesman for the Missouri River Division office in Omaha said the Chief of Engineers had approved a start on the project, subject to clarifications of a few minor technical details to the satisfaction of the Division Engineer.

The Associated Press quoted the Division spokesman as saying that the "Washington review showed there is still a satisfactory ratio of costs to benefits for the project."

The project had previously been recommended to the Chief of Engineers and approved, but in the interim between approval and appropriation of funds, a considerable amount of building had taken place in the area.

Consequently, the engineers were asked to review the economic analysis of the project.

Earlier this year, the Omaha District engineer said in a preliminary report that the proposed dam was approaching the borderline of feasibility, but that additional data was being assembled for Washington review.

The last Congress appropriated $412,000 for the Salt Creek Watershed program, including $162,000 for planning and $250,000 for construction.

Site Acquisition Soon

The Associated Press said engineers anticipate being able to start acquiring land for the dam site — possibly within a few weeks and expect to start actual construction in fiscal 1962.

The Antelope Creek dam site has been proposed near 56th and Van Dorn, impounding water from the creek's drainage area about Lincoln.

An Omaha District spokesman said the report on the Washington review of the project probably would be received within the next few days, but is a "virtual go-ahead for the project."

The report is expected to shift emphasis to the Antelope Dam and its construction before land acquisition problems become increasingly critical.

Others Got Study

Earlier, the Omaha District with approval of the Salt-Wahoo Watershed District had commenced preliminary planning of two other dams in Lancaster County pending final determination in Washington of the feasibility of the Antelope Dam.

Otto Liebers of Lincoln, president of the Salt-Wahoo Watershed District, said he was "highly pleased" with the Engineers' report.

"We've been waiting for this feasibility report," Liebers said. "The Antelope dam is an important project and will become increasingly so."

"It's great news," Robert Crosby, the District's attorney, commented on the report. "It means acquisition of land for the Antelope dam and its construction can go forward. It is an important project to the watershed program and Lincoln."

Juvenile Court Plan Gains Churches OK

The Lincoln Council of Churches unanimously reaffirmed its support for a separate juvenile court at its autumn assembly Thursday night.

The Rev. Carrol Lemon, executive secretary, said local churches will be encouraged to have discussions on the topic, which will be on the November ballot, and will be asked to take a stand on the issue.

The council has supported separate courts since 1956 when it began campaigning for the necessary preliminary constitutional revisions. The state constitution was amended in 1958.

Petitions were circulated this year to put the issue on the ballot.

In other action, the council announced plans for the Reformation Festival Oct. 27 which will include Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, chairman of the central committee of the World Council of Churches and president of the United Lutheran Church, as speaker.

The group also planned Thanksgiving services at local churches with offerings devoted to sending surplus grain to foreign countries.

The Council voted to join the Lincoln Community Council, a federation interested in the social welfare of the community.

4 Towns Get Sewage Unit Building OK

Four towns have been given final approval by the U.S. Public Health Service to begin construction on water sewage treatment facilities, T. A. Filipi, state sanitation engineer, said.

The towns—Firth, Shelby, Grant and Friend—are 4 of 14 applicants for $677,575 in federal funds recently approved by Congress for water sewage treatment facilities.

Filipi said the approval by the U. S. Public Health Service's regional office in Kansas City was the last step before construction gets underway.

He said he expects the other 10 applications to come in as soon as they are processed in Kansas City.

Of the 14 applicants, 10 have been assigned priority by the State Water Pollution Control Council. These are the 4 just approved by the health service plus facilities in Rising City, Niobrara, Curtis, Broken Bow, Franklin and the Missouri River sewage treatment plant in Omaha.

Plans for the towns with final approval include: a sewage treatment plant with a life station and force main at Firth; a waste stabilization lagoon at Shelby; an outfall extension and sewage oxydization lagoon at Grant, and a treatment plant at Friend.

3 Diocese Priests New Monsignors

Three priests of the Diocese of Lincoln received special honors from Pope John XXIII, according to Bishop James V. Casey.

Msgr. Flynn

Casey announced that the Rev. John J. Flynn, pastor of St. Mary's Cathedral and dean of the Lincoln Deanery; the Rev. Max G. DeWitt, chancellor of the diocese; and the Rev. Robert F. Sheehy, official of the diocesan tribunal, have been appointed monsignors.

The new Msgr. Flynn has been appointed a domestic prelate with the title of right reverend monsignor.

Msgr. DeWitt and Msgr. Sheehy have been named papal chamberlains with the title of very reverend monsignor.

The title of domestic prelate refers to the priests who are officials of the Roman Curia as well as the rectors of the Basilicas and major churches of Rome.

The distinction is a mark of papal recognition, which makes its recipient an honorary member of the Pope's household.

In Rome, the papal chamberlains are responsible for the Holy Father's personal requirements.

Pro-Western Forces Lose Laos Battle

Vientiane, Laos (AP)—Troops loyal to neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma swept pro-western rebel forces of Gen. Phoumi Nosovan out of Paksane Thursday.

Authoritative Western sources described the action as an upset victory that may turn the tide in Laos' 12-day-old civil war.

The capture of Paksane Village is not a major victory in military terms, and Souvanna and Paratroop Cap. Kong Le, who led Souvanna's forces, were quick to concede they did not consider their victory decisive.

But it could mark a major psychological setback for Phoumi, who only 3 days ago had vowed he would sweep the Souvanna government out of Vientiane and stamp out the pro-communist guerrillas who infest parts of Laos.

Paksane marked the first major battle between the forces of Souvanna and Phoumi.

Kong Le said he took the town with 300 men. He estimated the defenders numbered 9 companies totaling 1,200 men. He said 30 to 40 of them were killed, an unknown number were wounded and 70 were taken prisoner.

'Bootstrap' Fund Gains Support From Superior

Superior (AP) — The Superior Chamber of Commerce Thursday voted to support passage of the constitutional amendment permitting municipalities and counties to issue revenue bonds to purchase and develop industrial sites. The chamber contributed $100 to "operation bootstrap," an organization promoting the bill.

The chamber also voted to oppose any change in the status of the state superintendent of education. The superintendent is now appointed by the state board of education and a proposed constitutional amendment would change this to make the superintendent elective.

Lodge's Finger Injured In Car Door Accident

South Bend, Ind. (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican vice presidential nominee, suffered an injured finger Thursday when a car door was slammed on it. The injury was not serious.

The fourth finger of Lodge's right hand was caught when an aide slammed the auto door as the former U.N. delegate emerged to speak on the University of Notre Dame campus.

The injury was less severe than the knee injury which sent Vice President Nixon, Lodge's running mate, to a hospital for about a week early in the presidential campaign.

Lodge grimaced only occasionally through a 30-minute address, then greeted members of the audience with his left hand while holding the injured hand inside his suit jacket.

Hospital X-rays later showed no fracture.

Jack's Assured Parity Plan Object Of Praise

. . . From State Farm Officials

By Glenn Kreuscher
Farm Editor

Senator John F. Kennedy's outline of assured parity income for farmers drew immediate response from some of Nebraska's farm leaders.

Acknowledgment of the domestic parity principle by Kennedy won the approval of Nebraska's Master of the Grange, Geo. A. Spidel of Lincoln.

Obtaining a fair share of income for the farmers and placing them on a par with other business has long been advocated by the Grange, Spidel said.

Kennedy's support of parity of income was approved by C. H. "Mannie" Kreader, executive secretary of the Nebraska Wheat Growers Assn.

'Needs Equal Value'

Kreader said: "If you don't get parity you don't survive on the farm. A farmer needs equal value and with that he can be in position to aid a strong economy and pay income taxes which helps his government."

Kennedy's example of a wheat program is very much on a par with the plan submitted to Congress last spring by the Wheat Growers Assn., Kreader said.

Kennedy suggested that his plan would call for the Secretary of Agriculture to determine the amount of wheat needed here and abroad. From that figure, a quota would be assigned farmers based on their historical output.

For the farmer to obtain his marketing certificate, he would be required to retire a small fixed percentage of his wheat quota.

Immediate Approval

The Wheat Growers suggested to Congress that farmers voluntarily retire 10 per cent of their acreage.

Lower interest rates for farm credit proposed by Kennedy met with immediate farmer approval.

Commenting on the lower interest rates the Wheat Growers Secretary, Kreader said, "You don't create wealth by raising interest rates."

Giving farmers a chance to share on an equal basis with other business in income appeared to have the most attraction amongst farmers.

Elton Berck, president of the Nebraska could not be reached for comment. He is in Billings, Mont., on business.

Miss Linda Norris Is Kornland's 29th Queen

Lincoln Star Special

Plattsmouth—An estimated throng of near 10,000 persons turned out here Thursday night to see Linda Norris, 21, of Weeping Water and Walter Gleason, prominent Plattsmouth resident, crowned queen and king of Korland at the 29th annual King Korn Karnival.

Queen Linda, a student at the University of Nebraska school of nursing, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Thornton of Weeping Water.

Manager of the Central Gas & Electric Co. at Plattsmouth, Gleason's a past president of the Plattsmouth Chamber of Commerce, a past director of the Korn Karnival and active in civic work. Serving as crown bearer was his grandson, Tommy Gleason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Gleason of Ames, Ia.

Large Courtyard

Amid a "Kornland Kingdom of Fantasy" theme, the ceremonies were presented in a 600-foot courtyard set up on a downtown Plattsmouth street.

A light blue castle complimented by a throneroom highlighted with a silver chandelier together with twinkling lights was the setting for the koronation.

Prior to the revealing of the new royalty, the 1959 king, Dr. Herbert Worthman of Louisville, knigted 6 ladies and 5 lords of the realm. Those honored: Mrs. John Satler, Mrs. Helen Wolcott, Mrs. Maxine Bowman, Mrs. Pearl Myers, Mrs. Helen Smock, and Mrs. Wayne Schneider, Ed Kohrell, Ernest W. Schultz, Harold Smock, Lloyd L. Fitch and Arthur C. Mclean. All are from Plattsmouth.

Mary Anna Ryan Higgins of Denver, the 1959 queen of the Karnival, was also in attendance.

Miss Hild Runnerup

Shirley Hild, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hild of Plattsmouth, runnerup for the 1960 queen honors, served as lady in waiting at the koronation.

Although Thursday night's ceremonies was the first big event of the 3-day celebration, there were other features of the first day including the opening of the new Cass County historical museum and beginning of the flower, corn, auto and hobby shows.

Friday events will include a kid's day and merchants parade, Indian dancers from Winnebago and square dancing.

A two-hour organizational and GI parade complete with 10 bands is scheduled Saturday night.

Gateway Manor Plan Is Outlined

L. A. Philippi, manager of the Gateway Manor, to be constructed at 66th and O, described the physical plan and outlined the advantages residents will have at a meeting Thursday of Gateway Manor board members and representatives of the community.

The Rev. Darrell Berg, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, who came to Lincoln from Seattle, described the benefits this type of senior citizens home has brought the residents in the northwestern portion of the country.

C. Petrus Peterson, local attorney, stated that the residence would make a noticeable difference in the lives of Lincoln's senior citizens.

Construction is expected to get underway soon with occupancy anticipated in early 1962.

Ernest Skoglund Found Dead Here

Ernest Skoglund, 40, of 2250 Sheldon, was found dead in his home early Thursday morning.

Dep. Sheriff Robert Lane, acting coroner, said death apparently was due to a heart attack. His wife, who found the body, said her husband had complained of feeling ill Wednesday night.

Funeral services will be at Geneva.

Khrush Glare Reveals Deep Abyss With Ike

By Relman Morin

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The two most powerful men in the world confronted each other in the United Nations Thursday and demonstrated — one in words, the other in manner — the depth of the abyss between them.

Nikita Khrushchev's darting eyes narrowed to slits when President Eisenhower stepped up to the lectern to speak.

Eisenhower's voice slowed to an icy, measured cadence when he reminded the great audience of the Soviet vetoes in the U.N. and the Russian walk-out from the disarmament conference in Geneva.

Khrushchev sat like a statue. He watched the President with a stony stare. He took his eyes off Eisenhower only once. That was when Eisenhower referred to the RB47 plane case. At this point, Khrushchev shot a sweift remark to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. Gromyko pencilled a brief note.

Looks Ahead

Eisenhower seemed to be speaking directly to Khrushchev. Through most of his speech, he looked straight ahead, seldom turning to right or left. The lectern was on a straight line with the middle-aisle chair where Khrushchev sat.

This was the 3rd time in a year these two men — either of whom could plunge the world into nuclear war with a single word — had faced each other.

Just over a year ago, Khrushchev was in Washington.

He was all smiles then. He shook hands with Eisenhower at the foot of the airplane ramp, flashed his Cheshire-cat grin, and waved to the crowds.

Even then, Eisenhower's expression was wooden, courteous but watchful.

Later, the President seemed to be warming up a little to Khrushchev. He entertained him, took him for a ride in a helicopter, sat down to talk with him at Camp David.

Only a little more than 12 months ago . . .

Riding in separate cars, they rolled into the courtyard of the Elysee Palace in Paris in May. The world's hopes centered here.

Eisenhower was smiling, waving at the crowds in the narrow street in front. He looked glowingly cheerful.

Blacker Than Ever

Khrushchev's expression was blacker than before.

When they came out, a few hours later, it was just the reverse.

Now Eisenhower was grim, flushed, with jaw out-thrust. Khrushchev was doing the grinning and waving. He looked like a boy let out of school.

He had attacked Eisenhower across the green baize table, shouting, banging his fists, using the toughest of tough talk. He had demanded an apology for the U2 incident, punishment for those responsible, guarantees from Eisenhower that there would be no more flights.

Between that day and Thursday, Khrushchev heaped insult and invective on Eisenhower at virtually every turn.

Thursday, Khrushchev came to the great, blue and gold Assembly hall well before the session convened.

He was sunny and affable. He kept rising from his seat to greet delegates of other nations, especially the brilliantly robed Ghanaians, Fidel Castro in green battle fatigues, and President Tito, the communist "heretic" from Yugoslavia.

Khrushchev prolonged the handclasps, smiling and talking. He gripped Castro's arms with both hands, and spoke rapidly through his interpreter.

'Next Is Ike'

Then, after the first speech by the foreign minister of Brazil, the Assembly president announced, "The next speaker is the President of the United States."

A cottony hush fell over the room. Khrushchev froze in his chair.

Eisenhower entered from the rear, from behind the podium, and placed his speech manuscript on the lectern. His expression was thoughtful.

He acknowledged the applause with a wave and a smile.

Khrushchev did not join in. He leaned his elbows on the desk in front of him.

Behind him, Tito clapped politely. Castro, far down in front, clapped 3 times and stopped.

From around the hall, hundreds of eyes were turned on Khrushchev, watching his reaction.

His expression was a blank. His eyes were hooded and hostile.

The distance in the hall between the two men, and their manner toward each other, symbolized the contrast between the cold war today and the hopes of last year.

Price Cuts Could Give Nation Zip

. . . Say Experts

Washington (UPI) — Price cuts by major industries would quickly restore zip to the nation's economy by loosening up consumer cash, government officials said Thursday.

They said even a modest buying splurge would dispel gloomy signs that have led some economists to raise the possibility of a recession.

The government's financial experts do not see a major downturn in the offing. Most believe that the current lull has resulted from what they call a "rolling adjustment" at a time when spending, production, income and employment have reached record highs.

The officials' views were considerably brighter than those of House Democratic leader John W. McCormack, Mass., who said in a speech made public Thursday in the Congressional Record that "the state of the national economy is ominous."

Cites Gloom

Speaking before Congress ended its short session last month, McCormack cited what he called the high rate of unemployment, low steel production, slumping business profits, a sag in the stock market and a slowdown in personal income.

He blamed the Eisenhower administration's opposition to federal school and housing legislation and what he said was its policy of high interest rates.

The big question with government financial officials is whether the current downturn in business expansion signals a new upturn or is the first step in a general decline.

Loose Money

They said price cuts in this situation would turn loose more consumer money, which in turn would encourage businessmen to step up their orders and inventories. This could set the whole economic machinery running smoothly again.

As long ago as January, President Eisenhower expressed the view that price reductions were in order and would have a healthy effect on business.

This has long been the view of such government officials as Raymond J. Saulnier, the President's chief economic adviser, and William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

Government officials particularly favor price cuts in such basic lines as steel, automobiles and new houses. Lower steel prices might have a chain reaction on costs and prices of other goods made with steel.

Spiritualists Hit Prejudice In Campaign Race

In a resolution adopted Wednesday, the American Spiritualist Alliance said that they "condemn all groups and individuals, religious or secular, who inject religious prejudices into political campaigns, educational administration and civic affairs".

The group wound up a 4-day national convention at the Capitol Hotel Wednesday.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

"Good news," said the clothing store man. "The vest is back in fashion."

I do not think this is good news. I think it is bad news.

"You mean all my suits are now obsolete?"

"I am afraid so," he said with a sly smile. "A suit without a vest today is like an egg without salt. Or a bow without an arrow — as Hiawatha so aptly put it. Or, if I may be permitted a bit of romance, like a man without a maid. Step up to the three-way mirror," said the clothing store man. "How does that one strike you?"

☆ ☆ ☆

It strikes me right in the heart. That is how changes of clothes strike me.

I had just replenished the wardrobe with the "Continental look."

This replaced a number of perfectly good — (but outmoded) — suits with something called "the nubby look."

Before that we threw away all our double-breasted models. Because anything that was not three-buttoned was so square nobody could bear it.

Now we are back to the vest.

☆ ☆ ☆

A vest is probably the most useless article ever sawed off on mankind. (Unless you are a Phi Beta Kappa. In which case it is very handy to hang your key on.)

The only good thing about vests is that it has four extra pockets.

However, it is built so close to your frame that you can slip nothing in these pockets but your house key.

☆ ☆ ☆

"We must lift one shoulder," said the clothing store man. "And so we must let out the seat — a little tight, eh? I thought so. We will pinch in the waist and put a cuff on the trousers."

The only practical suit I ever had was given to me free. Courtesy of a grateful Nation.

It was made of sturdy green cloth. It had a sack coat and pants that were fitted by a mere glance from a sergeant. He did not ask me to look in the three-way mirror. He just handed them to me.

The pants had big saddle pockets in which you could put grenades or cans of beer. Or anything that was left lying around. They were the handiest pants I ever had. You could put a dozen hard boiled eggs in one pocket alone.

This outfit had been designed by important men in Washington.

They gave it plenty of thought.

It had no vest at all.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Let me ask an important question," I asked. "If the vest is so important, how is it that you have sold me suits without any vest for the past ten years?"

"It is the new look," said the clothing store man. "Don't you get a feeling of well-being in that set of threads? We call it the 'Executive look.'"

"I predict," said the clothing store man, "that within a month no well-dressed man will think of appearing in public without a vest. No more than he would appear without trousers.

"Bankers have always worn vests. It gives the well-dressed man an appearance of solid purpose. Dependability. Character."

This is the absolute word on fall fashions. The last word. Until next fall when you can throw them all away for something else.

State Road Dept. Seeks Bids On $1,750,000 In Work

The Nebraska Department of Roads Thursday advertised for bids for an estimated $1,750,000 in road construction and maintenance projects.

Bids are to be opened Oct. 13.

Included were 4 Interstate Highway projects, but none were for highway construction. They were for roadside improvements, a guard rail, and pre-construction clearing of part of the Route 3 right of way in Omaha.

Bids were recently received on the clearing project, from Frederick Street to Dewey Avenue, but all were judged too high. G. C. Strobel, acting deputy state engineer, said then the final dates to remove houses in the area were probably "too tight." By extending the dates and advertising all over again, the state will save money, but the construction starts on grading and 3 bridges will probably be delayed 4 to 6 weeks, he said.

The estimated source of funds was as follows:

Federal aid Interstate, $390,000; federal aid primary, $15,000; federal aid secondary, $365,000; counties, $125,000; state construction, $835,000; and state maintenance, $20,000.

On secondary highway east of Weeping Water, Cass, 4.3 miles, crushed rock for base course.

On secondary highways between Dodge and Cuming County line and between Dodge and Neb. 91, Dodge, 2.8 miles, grading, granular subbase course, soil aggregate base course and asphaltic concrete surface course. (Bids for this work were requested Aug. 25. Contracts were awarded for the culvert and bridge work. The one bid received for the grading and bituminous surfacing was rejected.)

On Secondary highway southeast of Loup City, Sherman, 4.9 miles, gravel surfacing.

On secondary highway between Broken Bow and Callaway, Custer, one bridge.

On secondary highway north of Broken Bow, Custer, 3.1 miles, gravel surfacing.

On secondary highway north of Red Cloud, Webster, 3.9 miles, gravel surfacing.

A SPECIAL MESSAGE ABOUT HIGH TIME
Thursday night--9:45 p.m.

We've just come from a special showing of "High Time" . . . what a surprise! We were prepared for a mildly entertaining comedy . . . . "High Time" far exceeded our expectations. Everyone in the "preview group" (it included a grandmother, several parents, a college couple, and a young married couple) said "High Time" was "wonderful" -- "top entertainment" -- "so funny" -- we all agreed we couldn't think of anyone who wouldn't thoroughly enjoy it. (You'll like Bing in this one-- Fabian can act & sing & he's a "real nice guy" -- Tuesday Weld is cute as can be -- and Nicole Maurey is a delight.)

Cooper Foundation Theatres therefore RECOMMENDS "High Time" - with absolutely no reservations. Parents will want to take their youngsters -- college and high school students will want to take their dates -- you'll have a "wonderful time" at "High Time". Don't miss it!

Via Intercom Physically Handicapped Girl Keeps Up With Her Classmates

By Dean Terrill
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Fairbury — The sweetest voice in her class may belong to Sharyn Fry, but none of her fellow 6th graders ever hears her sing.

As her 36 classmates come to music time each day, the melodious voice of the physically handicapped girl fills only her own bedroom. Even in its fullness it can't reach the two blocks to her friends at school.

"I love to sing along, but I don't want the other kids to hear — so I just don't press the button," Sharyn explained.

The button to which she refers is on a telephone intercom system enabling the personable 13-year-old brunette to take regular school work. She readily hears the lessons explained by Mrs. Marcelle Evans, and merely pushes a button to recite whenever she is called upon.

Sharyn and Mrs. Evans . . . home end of intercom.

Hospitalized Many Times

Injured at age 3, Sharyn has spent most of her life in hospitals, particularly the Shriners Hospital in Minneapolis. Treatment has been provided through local Shrine efforts, with Leo Mergen acting as personal sponsor.

"During all her illness, she has never lost the sparkle in her eye nor the shine in her black hair," said Mrs. Cecilia Henry, her grandmother with whom she has lived since a family tragedy.

This is the first year for the speaker system, since previously Sharyn was either well enough to attend regular school or so ill she was hospitalized. Her condition indicates it will probably have to be used for the next few years.

Besides the weekly calls of her teacher ("she's just wonderful!") Sharyn has been visited already by most of her class. So that she is a real part of every session, her picture hangs in the classroom.

What is the favorite subject of a girl whose hospital life has kept her from many of her friends' activities?

"I like them all so much I can hardly wait to turn on the speaker every morning, but my favorite is health," said Sharyn. "Someday I'd like to be a nurse . . . but I don't know if I can be."

Annexation Law Absurd, Says Willard

Grand Island (AP) — Grand Island city attorney Carl Willard told the League of Nebraska Municipalities Thursday the present law covering annexation by cities is "completely absurd" and "it makes no sense at all."

Willard asked the league members at their convention here to unite in a fight to bring the situation up to where a city can annex any tract that is adjacent to the city.

Now, he said, if land adjacent to a city is 12 acres or less it must be subdivided by people who own it before it can be annexed, or if it is more than 12 acres the city must completely surround the area before it can be annexed.

Ralph Nelson, city attorney of Lincoln, spoke on ordinance enforcement. He said officials must familiarize residents with the laws before there can be good enforcement.

Nelson recommended all cities follow Lincoln's example and revamp their ordinance systems because of outdated laws that do not cover present situations.

Kiewit Bid Is Low

Omaha (AP)—Peter Kiewit Sons Co. of Omaha was apparent low of two bidders for a contract to construct a warm-up holding pad at Offutt Air Force Base, the Omaha district engineer's office said. The Kiewit bid was $312,512, compared with a government estimate of $260,299.

Fidel Invites K. To Cuba; Russian Premier Accepts

New York (AP)—Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro said he had invited Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to visit Cuba and that Khrushchev had accepted.

The Cuban said the time of the visit still was not certain.

Castro spoke with newsmen as he ate a steak at luncheon in the dining room of the Theresa Hotel, a Harlem hotel in which he is making his quarters while here for the United Nations General Assembly meeting.

The Cuban and Khrushchev had their first known meeting Tuesday when the Soviet leader visited Castro at the hotel.

The meeting was viewed as significant because Castro's revolutionary regime has been regarded as edging into Moscow's sphere.

Castro described Khrushchev's visit to him as "proof of Soviet friendship."

Just One Word

New York (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev had a single word for Americans who hissed and booed him as he emerged from a diplomatic reception at the Plaza Hotel. He muttered it back at them and aide translated it from Russian as: "Savages!"

Worker Crushed To Death While Unloading Wood

Beatrice (UPI) — William Hunt, Belleville, Kan., an employe of the Beatrice Construction Co., was crushed to death while helping unload wood poles from a railroad car.

Hunt lost his balance and fell from the railroad car as the poles rolled over onto the top of a truck trailer.

The heavy poles rolled on top of him, crushing him almost instantly. The body was taken to a Beatrice mortuary for transfer to his home.

Hunt was in his 50s and was not married, officials said.

Martin Attacks Russian Study Teams In States

Broken Bow (UPI)—Fourth District congressional candidate Dave Martin said that the "whistle should have been blown many months ago" on Russian "inspection teams" visiting the United States.

The Kearney Republican said that some 150 Soviet study teams have "converged on us in this one way traffic guised as 'idea exchange.'"

Martin told some 2,000 persons celebrating the annual Hay Day observance that "impudence is too soft a word" for the Russians' motives in the matter.

The crowd for the annual celebration was swelled by a 2.35-inch rainfall.

11 Towns Reach Quotas In Funds For Voter Drive

Hastings (AP)— Charles E. Uerling of Hastings, who heads a statewide drive for funds to finance a voter orientation program for the industrial development amendment, said Thursday 11 communities already have met their quotas.

The communities are Hastings, McCook, Fairbury, North Platte, Lexington, Tekamah, Elgin, Cozad, Nebraska City, Hebron and Tecumseh. The community quota is based on a suggested figure of five cents per capita.

Labor Group, Welfare Assn. Join Council

The Council now has 59 organizational members including 27 Community Chest agencies.

Council membership is open to public and private organizations and individuals interested in the social welfare activities of the community.

The Community Council is a federation of these agencies, whose objectives are to "study, plan, co-ordinate, and promote the social welfare activities of Lincoln."

Plane Down In Pacific; 29 Are Missing

Naha, Okinawa (AP)—A 4-engine U.S. Marine transport plane crashed into the Pacific Ocean with 29 persons aboard. Ships and planes which combed the crash area 180 miles south-southeast of Okinawa found no sign of survivors.

"There are a lot of bodies in life jackets and the destroyer Perkins is picking up to bodies," said Cmdr. John P. Crosby, operations officer of Naha Naval Air Facility, after receiving a report from the carrier Oriskany. Planes from the Oriskany first spotted die makers and debris and directed surface rescue craft to the scene.

The Marine R5D transport, a military version of the DC6, was carrying 23 passengers and a crew of 6 from Atsugi, Japan, bound for Subic Point, Philippines. It flashed a distress signal, reported an engine afire and said it was ditching.

Summit Opinion

New York (UPI)—Workmen on the skeleton of a brand new skyscraper enar the Waldorf-Astoria gave President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev their own summit opinion on the world situation Thursday.

They hung out hastily-painted large signs saying:

WALTER C. DOWLING

Red Ban Defied By U.S. Envoy

Dowling Rides Into East Berlin With Yank Flag Waving

Berlin (UPI) — The U.S. Ambassador to West Germany ignored a Communist guard's order to turn back and rode into East Berlin with the American flag waving on the fender of his limousine Thursday in defiance of a new Red ban on Western diplomatic travel.

A border guard at the Brandenburg gate ordered Ambassador Walter C. Dowling not to enter the Soviet sector of the city, but the diplomat, in a move calculated to show the West's determination to maintain its rights, ordered his chauffeur to continue into the Communist zone.

Right To Free Access

He told the guard: "As American Ambassador, I am responsible for the American sector of Berlin and I have the right of free travel in the whole city. In any case, I do not recognize your right to control movements across the border. We regard the border as open and we have the right to free access."

The car continued through the gate, flying the Stars and Stripes on one side and Dowling's personal flag of rank on the other.

30-Minute "Visit"

Dowling who arrived in West Berlin earlier Thursday by train without difficulty, drove through East Berlin for 30 minutes, then returned to the free sector.

The Communist East Germans said Wednesday they would not allow Western diplomats to travel in the Soviet Zone without special permission. However, it was not stated officially if the ban would be applied to envoys from the United States, Britain and France.

Dowling's routine passing into the zone indicated that the East Germans were not ready to hinder travel by Big diplomats without the firm support of the Soviet Union.

Knoflicek Appointed To Potato Committee

The office of Gov. Dwight Burney reported Thursday the appointment of Louis Knoflicek of Alliance as a member of the Potato Development Committee for a two year term.

Knoflicek replaces M. W. Felton, formerly of Alliance, who has left Nebraska, the office said.

BRIDGE

By B. Jay Becker

QUIZ

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	2 ♦	Pass	?

What would you now bid with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠KJ93 ♥K864 ♦J6 ♣AJ5
2. ♠864 ♥AJ752 ♦KQ5 ♣J3
3. ♠7 ♥74 ♦AJ63 ♣AQJ852
4. ♠K952 ♥AQ73 ♦8 ♣J643
5. ♠QJ7 ♥K95 ♦Q82 ♣K873

1. Three notrump. An overcall in the two level shows roughly the values for an opening bid. Furthermore, the suit in which the overcall is made must be reasonably strong because otherwise it would be dangerous to bid for eight tricks after an adverse opening bid

Hence it follows that our 13-point hand, so well suited for notrump play, should easily produce nine tricks at notrump. This being the case, it would be wrong to bid only two notrump — an invitational bid which North is permitted to pass.

2. Three diamonds. Obviously, in deference to partner's overcall, we cannot afford to pass, and the only question is how best to represent what we have. Game is far less likely to be made with this hand than the previous one, but it is certainly not out of the question.

Two bids suggest themselves as possibilities — two hearts and three diamonds. The objection to the heart bid is that it does not reveal the excellent diamond fillers which North must be worried about. The three diamond bid reassures North about his long diamond suit, and is therefore more apt to encourage him to go on — possibly to three notrump.

3. Five diamonds. This bid has a twofold purpose. Not only is there a reasonable chance that eleven tricks can be made, in view of the strength-showing overcall, but also there is a distinct possibility that the opponents might be able to get together in the unnamed suit, hearts, if we made a lesser bid than five diamonds. The jump to game has both offensive and defensive overtones.

4. Pass. Despite the 10 highcard points facing the overcall, game is quite unlikely This is largely because there is no diamond fit. There is no need to get panicky because of the singleton diamond. Partner should make two diamonds easily

5. Two notrump. This bid, s indicated before, invites partner to go to three notrump if his hand is suitable for that purpose. It is invitational only, because the bid of two notrump denies the ability to go directly to three.

If North, over two notrump, bids three diamonds, he warns us that he had the minimum values for his overcall and that his hand is not suitable for notrump play. We would then pass.

The Talk Around Town

—Fun news this morning, and for all of the activity we find on our calendar Lincoln's guests may take a bow.

There are parties, and oddly enough most of them the non-football variety. We do have one more post-game party to mention, however, and we'll talk about it later.

* * *

—Right now we choose to speak of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Boys of San Jose, Calif., who arrived on Tuesday for a visit with Mrs. Boys' brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Galen Saylor.

As we said, Mr. and Mrs. Boys arrived on Tuesday, and on Tuesday evening they were comlipmented at a dinner for which Dr. and Mrs. Hollis Askey were host and hostess at their home when they entertained the members of the Twin-Six Bridge Club.

An informal evening with friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Donaldson was on the books for Wednesday evening, and on Thursday Mrs. Boys was the incentive for a luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club when Mrs. Wayne Packard entertained a group of guests.

The series of courtesies also includes a dinner this evening, for which Mr. and Mrs. George Ross will be host and hostess—a family dinner at which Dr. and Mrs. Saylor will preside on Saturday when their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Saylor of St. Paul, Minn., and their daughter, Susan, will be on hand.

And last evening Mr. and Mrs. George Ross complimented Mr. and Mrs. Boys when they were a dinner host and hostess.

* * *

—Our guest list continues with news of a Friday arrival—Mrs. Eugene Gilmore who planes in today from Havana, by way of New Orleans.

Mrs. Gilmore, whose husband remained in Havana where he is exceedingly busy with affairs of State at the American Embassy, will spend two weeks as the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Earl S. Fullbrook.

* * *

—Then we learned that there are to be week end guests at the home of Mrs. Frank Boehmer and her mother, Mrs. I. G. Chapin.

Arriving from Grand Island on Saturday morning will be Mrs. Boehmer's son-in-law, William Farnsworth of Santa Barbara, Calif., who has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Earl Farnsworth in Grand Island—Incidentally, Mrs. Farnsworth will accompany her son to Lincoln.

And also house guests at the home of Mrs. Boehmer and Mrs. Chapin will be Mr. Farnsworth's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Stebbins of Gothenburg. We are sure we need not say that Mrs. Stebbins is Mrs. Boehmer's granddaughter and Mrs. Chapin's great-granddaughter—but we said it anyway.

—There is news of Miss Betsy Farnsworth this morning, too—We hear that Miss Farnsworth, the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Farnsworth, is a freshman at the University of California this year—and that she has pledged Delta Gamma.

* * *

—Some paragraphs back we mentioned a post-game event—It is the canape party for which Mr. and Mrs. John N. Jones will be host and hostess at their home following Saturday's game.

Included in the guest list will be Mr. Jones' brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jones, Jr., of Alliance; Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Gardner, Jr., of Hastings; Dr. and Mrs. Paul Kerns, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Wittler and Mr. and Mrs. William Sonderegger.

* * *

—This is the morning that the Saturday Night Club makes announcement of its new members—In the group are Mr. and Mrs. George Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Max Speidell, Mr. and Mrs. John Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hamilton and Mr. and Mrs. John Carey.

The Saturday Nighters will open the season with a dinner dance on Oct. 15, at Hotel Cornhusker where the year's six parties will be held.

CHATTER —in the— CORRIDOR

BY LUCY MUTCHIE

Yea Thunderbolts!

The Pius X Thunderbolts struck Omaha Holy Name hard last Friday, and finished with a winning score of 27-14. A crowd of parents, friends, and fans occupied the newly built stadium, and cheered the team on to victory. On the afternoon of the game, the seniors presented a skit at the stadium, to add enthusiasm, spirit, and life to the student body and the foothball team. Members of the team, dressed like cheerleaders and some senior girls formed a team. Both working together brought a mock victory for Pius.

Last week the halls were cluttered with posters, banners, and buttons exclaiming "Vote for Student Council President." Campaigning for John Lonnquist was Tom Liewer. Larry Rice's idea of a perfect candidate was John Curran. Suzie Armstrong was backed by Nancy White, and John Love campaigned for Terry Connelly. After very close balloting, John Lonnquist was announced as the new president.

Then a representative and alternate were chosen from each home room. Speaking for the seniors will be Larry Rice, Mike Alesio, John Curran and alternates Terry Connelly, Steve Creal, and Joann Adams. The juniors will be represented by Mike Sweet, Bob Kerr, Bill Harding, and Paul Dolan, while alternates are Paul Wheeler, Dave Minick, Terry Fusco and Tom Adams. On behalf of the sophomore class, there will be Carol Hauschild, Nona Rogers, Verne Felton, Kathy Glynn, and LaVonne Lange. Beverly Armstrong, Richard McManaman, Betsy White, John Schneider and Jim Ganser are alternates. Other officers chosen were John Curran, vice president, and Larry Rice, secretary-treasurer. The Student Council is established for the purpose of getting from the students themselves ideas and suggestions for the improvement of the school.

Fun News In Suburbia

HOLLINGSWORTH HEIGHTS

Dr. and Mrs. James McCabe and three and a half year-old Jeff returned home last Friday from a week's visit in Chicago. Dr. McCabe attended a national dental conference, while Mrs. McCabe and Jeff toured all the local zoos and museums in the Windy City.

The McCabe's trip was a little extra exciting when on the train an AWOL soldier, accompanied by two Army guards, shot one of the guards in the leg, and during the visit of Mrs. McCabe and Jeff to the zoo their afternoon was highlighted when a wolf escaped from his pen.

The first day of classes at Creighton University in Omaha, marked the first day of college for Robert E. Pucelik, son of Dr. and Mrs. L. S. Pucelik.

Robert, a 1960 graduate of Pius X High School, plans to study medicine.

Entertaining her weekly bridge foursome at a luncheon Thursday was Mrs. E. L. Felton. Enjoying the afternoon while the kiddies were in school were Mrs. Harry Leth, Mrs. Ted Martin, and Mrs. M. E. Brumfield.

KESSLER HEIGHTS

We hear that little Jonathon Kraft celebrated his first birthday Thursday night at a family party. Helping Jonathon celebrate the occasion, in addition to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Kraft, were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Nagel, and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kraft, his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sherman and their children, Mark and Christie, and another aunt, Mrs. Melvin Erickson, and her sons, Curtis and Allen.

Another page in the birthday book finds Chris Holden, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Holden, making plans for a treasure hunt to celebrate his 11th birthday anniversary Saturday afternoon. Seven of Chris's classmates have been invited to the party.

ASK— Dorothy Draper

Everybody seems to plan for a fireplace today when building a new house. And of course, when building your own house you can plan and place your fireplace wherever you want it.

But when you buy an old house you often find that your fireplace is off-center leaving a longer wall space on one side than on the other. The best thing to do with your off-center fireplace is to set a good heavy piece of furniture, like a sofa, right opposite.

Don't center the sofa on the wall, as you normally would do, or it will be out of line with the fireplace and look more higgledy-piggledy than ever.

When you have lined up the sofa and the fireplace you can arrange the long end of your room as a square or oblong space with a balanced decorative scheme of its own.

And PLEASE don't go to all that expense of having a fireplace put in just to sit and look at it. Light the fire! I go into so many of the new little houses and there sits the fireplace . . . and I know that no ash has ever been allowed to desecrate its new red brick fire box. Learn to enjoy the magic of a fire as it crackles its merry way up the chimney.

Mrs. L.C.A. asks:

"I have to buy a new living room couch, but there is the problem — my husband insists, and will insist on taking naps on the couch, and the present daveno we have is really a day bed but is never used as a bed. However, I know it takes a lot of wear and tear. With all of your experience, do you think one of the new type foam rubber couches would hold up under this deadly wear as well as one of the better type day beds?"

Dear Mrs. L.C.A.:

I was interested in the word "daveno." I had never heard it called that. Foam rubber is supposed to withstand a great deal of wear and tear and has been recommeded by several department stores.

New Recipes From Our Football Kitchen

The chill of autumn, four home games in a row at the Nebraska stadium, and a rousing high school football season in full swing give a tremendous impetus to activity in Lincoln and its environs.

The above combination also could tax the energies and the pocketbooks of adult and teen-age hostesses who find the spirit willing but the ideas weak.

So—This morning we found some new recipes from our football kitchen — They are simple, economical, and far from difficult.

For the Mr. and Mrs. who have invited guests in for supper following the game we suggest Chicken Normandy — and here is the recipe:

CHICKEN NORMANDY
(Makes 4 servings)

1 3-pound frying chicken, cut in serving pieces
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 medium-sized onion, thinly sliced
2 tablespoons sliced hearts of celery
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2½ cups apple slices (1 1-pound 4-ounce can, drained)
⅛ teaspoon thyme
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons heavy cream
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces spaghetti

Sprinkle chicken with ¾ teaspoon salt. Melt butter or margarine. Add chicken and cook over medium heat, until golden brown on all sides. Remove chicken from skillet. Reserve drippings. To drippings in skillet add onion and celery. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, 5 minutes. Add chicken, parsley, apple slices, thyme, ½ teaspoon salt and nutmeg. Cover and cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, 40-45 minutes. Stir in cream just before serving.

Meanwhile, add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Serve chicken mixture over spaghetti.

The teen-age hostesses also have their entertainment problems—One of the requirements is simplicity—something that will not take too much time in preparation—and something that the crowd may demolish in a hurry and still have ample time to get to the night game.

For our teen-age hostesses we suggest this open face sandwich which has a wonderful barbecued flavor with the relish condiments "built right in."

An easy quick variation of a cheeseburger, it is the mainstay of a Pre-game Supper. Accompany with the family's favorite relishes—olives, carrot sticks, sliced tomatoes, potato chips and tall glasses of milk.

Quick Barbecued Beef on Buns

1 pound ground chuck
2 tablespoons instant minced onion or, ½ cup chopped raw onion
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste
1 teaspoon Worchestershire sauce
1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
2 tablespoons sweet pickle relish
2 drops liquid smoke seasoning (optional)
4 hamburger buns
½ cup grated Swiss or cheddar cheese

Brown beef until crumbly (add a little butter or oil to pan if meat is extremely lean). Add onion, salt, pepper, Worchestershire, tomato sauce, pickle relish and smoke seasoning. Bring to a boil, stirring, and simmer a minute or two. Split and toast buns; spoon on meat sauce and sprinkle with cheese.

Makes 4 servings.

Dear Abby—

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband borrowed $100 from the finance company and the girl who waited on him made a mistake and gave him $200.

Now this is what makes me mad. When my husband discovered the mistake he carried the money back to the finance company and gave them the extra hundred. I am proud of him for being so honest, especially since we couid have used that extra hundred ourselves. So after he gave it back, all the people at the finance company did was thank him for it. Don't you think they should have taken the interest off the hundred he borrowed, or given him a few dollars to show their appreciation?

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You have a right to be proud of your husband, but no one should expect a reward for being honest.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor of ours put on one of those big fancy church weddings for her daughter last April. They had bridesmaids and ushers and the bride wore a white gown with a 22-foot train. When she walked down the aisle I told my husband I thought she looked pregnant. (I can tell a pregnant woman by the way she walks and nobody can fool me.)

Sure enough, Gladdy (the bride) came over here this morning and told me she was expecting in October. (She looked like she could deliver tomorrow.)

Gladdy hinted that a member of her family couldn't head up a baby shower but a "good friend" could. I want no part of this. Should I tell her nothing doing and why I feel the way I do?

RESPECTABLE

DEAR RESPECTABLE: Ignore her "hints" — but why pour salt on the wound? If she can count, she'll know what the score is.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: My blood boiled when I read the letter from ANGRY MOTHER who had a policeman knock on her door and tell her she either had to put a diaper on her 14-month-old baby or keep him in the house. What next? It seems to me that if the police force is going to see to it that the citizens are properly dressed, they should begin with the brazen women who appear on the streets and in the supermarkets with those short shorts and skin tight trousers. Oh, brother!

DISGUSTED

DEAR ABBY: My mother has been mentally sick for three years. She is in the state mental institution.

What can I tell my friends when they ask me where my mother is? I am 15. Please help me.

NO EXPLANATION

DEAR NO EXPLANATION: Tell them your mother is sick in a hospital. If you are questioned further, add . . . "She's had a nervous breakdown."

Roads Department Asking $5½ Million Budget Hike

The State Department of Roads has submitted its 1961-63 budget to State Tax Commissioner Forrest Johnson anticipating a total expenditure of $142,971,978, an increase of approximately $5½ million over the present biennium.

Bulk of the funds would go toward the estimated $110 million to be spent on state highway construction in the next two fiscal years, an increase of about 3%.

A detailed list of highway improvement projects will be submitted at a later date, Acting State Engineer John Hossack said.

Would Be Matched

In addition to the state highway figure, the department anticipates $10,729,342 in federal funds will be available to cities and counties for their street and road programs, up $2.3 million.

These funds would be matched on a 50-50 basis by the local subdivisions.

The State Highway Department expects to receive $70,929,316 in federal aid for the state highway system.

An increase in state highway maintenance expenditures from $17,308,000 to $18 million is anticipated.

No Increase

No increase in highway taxes is contemplated although a hike in revenue from present taxes is expected.

Income from the gasoline tax is expected to go from $43,650,000 this biennium to $45,200,000 for the 1961-63 period, and special fuel taxes are expected to jump from $2,665,000 to $3,500,000.

Expected increases in the number and travel of motor vehicles would account for the hike in revenue.

On the cost side, other increases are anticipated in administration expenses and in operation of the department's truck weighing stations.

New Court Budget At $1,329,112

Nebraska's District Court judicial system Thursday submitted its 1961-63 budget request to State Tax Commissioner Forrest Johnson asking $1,329,112 for the coming biennium.

Included in the district court budget is $780,920 for salaries and social security expenses for the 35 judges, and $40,000 for their total travel expenses.

A total of $500,692 is requested for salaries for 35 court reporters, and $7,500 for their travel expenses.

The increase over the present biennium, about 10%, is chiefly due to the salary increases voted for the judges and reporters in the 1959 Legislature.

In Addition . . .

In addition their budget requests $205,735 for the operation of 8 of the state's 10 probation districts which are under district court jurisdiction.

Due to a technical error, two of the probation districts, 2 and 7, have not yet submitted their budget requests.

A breakdown of the 8 districts shows these requests: District 1, $17,000; District 3, $18,087; District 4, $48,368; District 5, $13,400; District 6, $38,980; District 8, $18,000; District 9, $17,500, and District 10, $34,400.

NCC Position On Cooper Is Questioned

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Frank Morrison called upon the Nebraska Constitutional Conservatives organization to declare whether it wans to continue its support for his Republican opponent, John Cooper.

Morrison said that NCC, a newly-formed conservative political group which has announced its support of several Republican candidates, should say whether it will support "a man who twice in this campaign has advocated policies which violate our state and federal constitutions."

Bad Investment

During the primary campaign, Morrison said, Cooper spoke at a public affairs meeting before the Omaha Chamber of Commerce "at which he advocated the investment of idle state funds in insurance companies in violation of the state constitution."

"Now," Morrison continued, "Cooper is advocating that we adopt a policy in violation of both our federal and state constitutions that the victims of vicious and irresponsible charges have the burden of proving their innocence."

The Democratic candidate said this was in reference to Cooper's "astounding" statement that the "burden of proof" rested with Morrison concerning the Republican's charge that Morrison had accepted a $7,500 campaign contribution from Omaha labor leader Leonard J. Schaefer.

Charge Denied

Both Morrison and Schaefer have denied that such a contribution was made or received. Cooper has said he will not withdraw his charge, nor apologize for it.

When asked for comment on Morrison's statement, Earl Luff of Lincoln, chairman of the conservative group, said, "We're not taking part in the controversy."

Texas' Own Joins NU's Grid Club

LBJ is now a member of the University of Nebraska's Extra Point Club.

Democratic vice presidential nominee Lyndon B. Johnson paid his dollar in a public ceremony Thursday at the Nebraska Union where he paid tribute to the NU Cornhuskers who defeated his beloved Texans at Austin last Saturday.

"There are many ties between the University of Nebraska and Texas," the Texas senator said.

"As things turned out, maybe we should have settled for another last Saturday night."

Later, Johnson told the delighted student crowd:

"They tell me though that you all do that once a year, and somebody has to get it."

The Cornhuskers' big upset victory over Texas followed the 1959 shocker over Oklahoma, and 1958 upsets of Penn State and Pittsburgh.

The senator's wife, Lady-bird, told the students she was glad for once that her daughter, Linda Bird, was not along on the trip to Lincoln.

"She was so disappointed by you all beating us that I'm afraid she might not have been friendly," Mrs. Johnson joked.

The Johnsons were met at the steps of the Union by a large sign that read: "This is not a good year for Texas."

Extra Point Club Starts Campus Push

The Extra Point Club has launched another membership contest among organized houses on the University of Nebraska campus, and the prizes offered should make for plenty of sales.

The house that wins gets a portable electric organ. Second prize—a portable stereo record player; and third—a set of record albums.

Houses can sell buttons or stickers to anyone. Sales are not limited to members of respective groups.

Each dollar received for memberships goes to bolster the Cornhusker athletic fund which provides grants for NU players.

Rice Elected

Larry Rice, Pius X football and track letterman, has been elected president of the "P" club for the coming year.

State Spotlight On Lincoln 11s

. . . RUGGED FOES INVADING

By Larry Novicki

The state football spotlight is on Lincoln tonight and Saturday as all 4 clubs meet tough foes on home soil.

Hastings, Grand Island and North Platte, Big 10 Conference powers, and Falls City, Twin Rivers kingpin, are the invaders.

Lincoln Southeast and Pius X drew the stiffest competition for tonight's games.

Southeast plays Hastings at 7:30 at the Oval. The Tigers have rolled to two straight wins and have been tabbed as the best bet for East Big 10 championship honors.

Pius X looked impressive in downing Omaha Holy Name last week 26-13. The Thunderbolts will have to stay impressive against unbeaten Falls City from 8 p.m. on at Pius X field.

Northeast isn't paired with a pushover either. They host Grand Island at 7:30 at Wesleyan.

The Islanders have split two games against West Big 10 foes.

Saturday night Lincoln High entertains a surprisingly-tough North Platte team which has bumped off two opponents in smart fashion.

GAMES TONIGHT
Falls City (8:00) at Pius X
Hastings (7:30) at Southeast (Oval)
Grand I. (7:30) at Northeast (Wesleyan)
SATURDAY
North Platte (7:30) at Lincoln High

I-State Threatens Detroit's Tradition

Detroit (AP)—University of Detroit gridders hope an old tradition will hold up tonight when they launch their 1960 football campaign against Iowa State.

Detroit hasn't lost an opening game since 1954 when Cincinnati edged the Titans 21-13. Going back to 1896 when Detroit began playing football its teams have won 48 openers while losing 9 and tying two.

But the Cyclones are favored to whip the Titans by at least 8 points.

Entries Due Tonight For Keg Tourney

Midnight tonight is the deadline for entries in the Southeast Nebraska Bowling Proprietors' district keg tournament which opens this weekend.

Capital City bowlers may register and bowl their first rounds at Hollywood Bowl, Parkway Lanes, Bow-Mor Lanes or Northeast Lanes, Lincoln's 4 association houses.

The singles and doubles tourney, carrying an estimated prize fund of $1,000, is open to all bowlers.

First rounds are slated Saturday and Sunday. Tourney finals, with the field pared, will be Oct. 1-2 at Hollywood Bowl.

Gophers Tough

Let this corner today serve a dual purpose—a place for greetings, as well as predictions.

First, I'd like to give a hearty welcome to Coach Murray Warmath and his fine Golden Gophers. Through the years the football meetings between Nebraska and Minnesota have seen some of the finest clashes in the nation. I suspect tomorrow's game will live up to the tradition of this historic and colorful rivalry.

Warmath has always been the gentleman—in victory and defeat—in the previous meetings between the Gophers and the Huskers, and it's a gridiron treat to have the Gophers in Lincoln.

Turning to the game itself, it is impossible to believe Minnesota will be as helpful as the Gophers were in Minneapolis last fall. They're a fine collection of athletes, with size, speed and determination to gain revenge for the 1959 rout.

Nebraska, while boasting a win over tough Texas, will be in for the fight of its young life. If the Huskers think the Gophers will be a breeze, it will take an adding machine to tote up the Minnesota statistics.

In the hope that Nebraska may have found the secret of putting two good games together against two top-notch opponents, I'll tab the score this way: NEBRASKA 20, MINNESOTA 13.

—TAKE NO INJURY CHANCES—

Huskers Polish Up For Gophers

. . . WORK IN SWEAT CLOTHES

Nebraska's Cornhuskers took no more injury chances Thursday after losing end Jim Huge in the final scrimmage session before the Minnesota game.

Coach Bill Jennings ordered the Huskers into sweat clothes for Thursday's brief polishing drill.

"We're as worried about Minnesota as it's possible to be," Jennings said. "And we want everyone to be as near physically perfect as we can get them."

While Huge will be out of action at least 4 weeks, it was learned Thursday that fullback Bill (Thunder) Thornton would be ready for full duty against the Gophers.

Jennings also said that the Huskers would use fullback Noel Martin, halfback Warren Powers and quarterback Ron Meade.

Regardless of rain, possible before Saturday, the NU Stadium turf will be fast. Workmen Thursday covered the field with a protective canvas.

Gophers Split

Unable to get a chartered airliner, the Minnesota Gophers will split their squad and fly to Omaha Friday in two regularly scheduled airliners.

They'll bus to Lincoln and work out at Memorial Stadium.

Still Tickets

A. J. Lewandowski said Thursday that tickets were still available for the Minnesota game, although the supply is dwindling.

"We still have a few season tickets in the east balcony and a few season box tickets," Lew said. "We also have ample bleacher tickets."

. . . GETS RAISE TO $40,000

St. Louis, (AP) — Manager Solly Hemus, who led the St. Louis Cardinals' jump from 7th to second place this season, Thursday signed a one-year contract for about $40,000—a $10,000 raise — and predicted, "We'll be in contention all the way for the 1961 pennant."

The fiery one-time Redbird infielder said "I'm confident we'll get off to a good start next season."

"We need a left-handed relief pitcher to give our great relief man, Lindy McDaniel, some help in the bullpen. We are looking for a top right-handed pinch hitter and for some help in the outfield.

"But the club is more set than before this season and it's essentially a young club."

General Manager Bing Devine praised the job Hemus and his staff did in pulling the club up from the second division.

The Redbirds at the same time announced the signing of Hemus' entire coaching staff at higher pay—Johnny Keane, Harry Walker, Howard Pollet and Darrell Johnson.

Hemus said if the Redbirds had won the pennant this season the club's Most Valuable Player candidate would be veteran Stan Musial, "who delivered so many winning hits—more than any man on the club."

Solly cited McDaniel's amazing relief work, Ernie Broglio's development into a 20-game winner and Ken Boyer's outstanding season as key factors in the club's success.

"I feel I wasn't a real good manager last season when we finished 7th—I was learning," Hemus said. "Yes, I considered a two-year contract—but not seriously because it isn't important.

"Club policy is to give one-year contracts and the Cardinals have always been fair and generous to me."

BOOZER INKS ROYALS PACT

Columbus, O. (AP)—All-America Bob Boozer, No. 1 draft choice of the Cincinnati Royals in 1959, Thursday night signed a rookie contract with the National Basketball Association team for the 1960-61 season.

The 6-foot-8, 1959 All-America at Kansas State flew in here from his hometown of Omaha.

Drafted in April 1959, Boozer declined several Royals offers and played instead for Peoria of the National Industrial Basketball league.

Minnesota Is Green At Tackle

Minneapolis (AP) — Minnesota will head for its football opener against Nebraska with a team that includes 11 sophomores, a sudden shortage of help at some positions and a new backfield combination.

Coach Murray Warmath Thursday named a 38-man traveling squad seasoned with lettermen. But only one is a tackle.

Aside from 270-pound Frank Brixius, the total 1959 playing time of 5 Gopher tackles is Bob Frisbee's 2:06 minutes.

Gopher coaches indicated they are not counting heavily on Roger Hagberg, the regular fullback.

Tom Robbins, the Big 10's leading punter last year and a two-year letterman, will replace Hagberg in the starting lineup.

Opening at one halfback will be Dave Mulholland, a junior from Fargo, N.D., who took over for Judge Dickson 10 days ago and has kept the job.

Baker, Hoak Hits Decide Twin Win

. . . MAGIC NUMBER NOW 2

Pittsburgh, (AP) — Pinch hitter Gene Baker's 11th inning, bases-loaded single in the opener and Don Hoak's base-loaded double in the second game were the decisive blows Thursday as the Pittsburgh Pirates pushed nearer to the National League pennant with a 3-2 and 6-1 doubleheader sweep over the Chicago Cubs.

The double triumph, extending the Pirates' winning streak to 6 straight, widened their first place margin to 7½ games over the second place St. Louis Cardinals and eliminated the 3rd place Milwaukee Braves from flag contention.

Pittsburgh's magic number is now two. The Pirates can clinch their first championship since 1927 by defeating the Braves in Milwaukee tonight, provided the Cards split a doubleheader with the Cubs.

A Cub sweep, regardless of the outcome of the Pittsburgh-Milwaukee game, would achieve the same purpose.

Elroy Face, in relief in the opener, and Vinegar Bend Mizell, with a 6-hit performance in the nightcap, were the winning pitchers.

It was Mizell's 7th triumph in 8 decisions over the Cubs this season. The lean-lefthander has whipped the Cubs 11 times against only one loss in the last 3 years.

Hoak was the batting and fielding standout in the doubleheader. The volatile 3rd baseman cracked 4 hits, two in each game, drove in 3 runs, scored 3 and handled 9 chances in the field flawlessly.

His stops of smashes by Don Zimmer in the opener and Ernie Banks and rookie Dick Bertell in the nightcap were spectacular.

It was Hoak who ignited the winning rally in the 11th inning of the first game. He singled off starting pitcher Don Cardwell and raced to 3rd when Bill Mazeroski, after twice fouling off intended sacrifice bunts, doubled.

An intentional pass to Dick Schofield filled the bases and set up Baker's heroics.

Flyweight King KOs Challenger

Los Angeles (AP) — Youthful Pone Kingpetch of Thailand retained his world flyweight championship Thursday night when he battered ex-champion Pascual Perez of Argentina into submission in the 8th round of their scheduled 15-round match.

The 24-year-old Thai, who dethroned the 34-year-old Perez by a 15-round split decision in Bangkok last April 16, had the veteran battler hanging on and virtually helpless when referee Mushy Callahan halted the struggle.

The time was 2:32 of the round.

A slim crowd estimated at 4,500 witnessed the match, in Olympic Auditorium. It was the first major flyweight attraction in Los Angeles in 35 years.

Kingpetch weighed 111½ and Perez 110½.

The knockout was the first in the long career of the game Argentine and only his 3rd defeat in 58 fights in a career dating back a dozen years or more.

Kingpetch used his 3-inch advantage in reach, and his 7-inch edge in height and a devastating rapier-like left to belt Perez down.

By Larry Novicki

Three state college football conferences begin loop action tonight and Saturday. Heading the slate are 3 Nebraska College Conference frays.

Doane and Nebraska Wesleyan step into the NCC title race here Saturday night.

Both clubs dropped games to tough Tri-State Conference foes last week. Doane lost to Concordia, 20-13, while Wesleyan was losing to Midland, 14-6.

The Tigers have one of their best teams in several years. Led by quarterback Ray Graves, they have scored 59 points in two games.

Peru travels to Kearney Saturday for an important NCC test.

Kearney lost to Fort Hays, Kan. 20-12—the Lopers lost to the Kansans last year and came back to grab the NCC pennant—and Peru breezed past St. Mary's, Kan. 46-0.

Kearney and Peru are both strong contenders for the loop crown.

Hastings, which lost a heartbreaker to Huron last week, 24-21, is at Wayne. The Broncos should be able to open conference action with a win.

Tonight Concordia entertains Westmar, Ia., in a Tri-States game.

The Bulldogs showed power and depth in topping Doane. Westmar lost to Central Missouri, 13-7.

Midland, a strong choice for the Tri-States championship, opens loop action at Yankton, S.D. The Warriors look like a cinch in this one.

Dana also travels to South Dakota to meet Sioux Falls College. Tarkio stopped Dana last week, but the Vikings should come back to win Saturday.

Norfolk is at Luther tonight in the Nebraska 5-JC Conference opener.

In other games Saturday, McCook is at Pueblo where they will need everything they've got to get past the tough Coloradans;

Tonight Fairbury JC goes to Wentworth Military Academy in what appears to be a breather for the Bombers.

Pius, Plattsmouth Move To Class A

Lincoln Pius X and Plattsmouth have attained Class A status in boy enrollment, dropping Falls City and Lexington to Class B.

Although enrollment figures for all schools are not yet reported to the Nebraska School Activities Assn. office—Lincoln Public Schools will not have attended the required number of days until next week—those on the borderline between A and B are in.

Pius X jumped its boy enrollment to 229 from 201. Plattsmouth gained from 190 to 219.

Falls City fell from 205 to 200, and Lexington from 204 to 197. Ogallala, which also had 204 last year but was placed in Class B, has 190 this year.

Fairbury is now the smallest Class A school with 213.

—PREP RATER'S .825 MARK IN DANGER—

Rough Week For Picker

By Al Beebe

If the lofty .825 percentage of correct predictions goes to the head of this prep prognisticator, this 3rd week is one calculated to knock the wind out of sails.

Gone are the easy picks which set up a 17-3 record yast week, and a 33-7 score for the campaign. Of this week's top 20 games in the state, most are likely to be close, toss-up affairs.

This is the week to separate the strong from the weak.

Hastings at Lincoln Southeast—Haven't picked the Knights correctly yet. I'm going with Hastings, which may be a good omen for SE.

Grand Island at Lincoln Northeast—A toughie. Islanders are young, Rockets small. NE to pull mild upset.

Falls City at Pius X—Tigers tough defensively, but not enough to contain Thunderbolts.

North Platte at Lincoln High (Saturday) — Platters have been surprisingly good, but not good enough to hobble Links.

The top state game:

Holdrege at Gothenburg — Class B powers clash in this one, with a narrow edge to the home team.

Other Friday games:

Auburn at Crete, Superior at Aurora, Beatrice at Plattsmouth, Schuyler at Blair, Kearney at Columbus, Wahoo at David City, Hebron at Deshler, York at Fairbury, Norfolk at Fremont, Lexington at Ogallala, Omaha Benson at Omaha South, Omaha Central at Omaha North, Exeter at Friend, Lawrence at Falls City Sacred Heart.

Saturday — Boys Town at Omaha Tech.

Rams Host Cards In NFL Inaugural

Los Angeles (AP) — Championship play in the National Football League gets underway tonight when the St. Louis Cardinals and the Los Angeles Rams collided in Memorial Coliseum.

Both finished in the cellar in their respective NFL divisions in 1959 with two victories and 10 defeats.

Each has won 4 and lost two exhibitions this season, with Coach Frank (Pop) Ivy's Cardinals, transplanted from Chicago, winning from such clubs as the champion Baltimore Colts and Philadelphia Eagles.

The Rams, progressing slowly under a new coaching regime headed by one-time quarterback Bob Waterfield, defeated the Cleveland Browns and the San Francisco 49ers, among others.

An opening night turnout of 40,000 is perdicted, considerable below the 71,297 which greeted the Rams in their first game last year with the New York Giants.

The smaller crowd may be attributed largely to the Rams' unimpressive play against the Giants here last week. The Giants won, 20-6, holding the Rams to two field goals.

Veteran quarterback Bill Wade is Waterfield's choice to start, with ex-Rice Institute star King Hill in the same role for the Cardinals.

Ivy named a hard running set of backs, John David Crow, Joe Childress and Mal Hammack to round out his backfield.

Fleet Jon Arnett, Clendon Thomas and Ollie Matson will be in the supporting cast for Wade.

Maple Leafs Reach Little World Series

Rochester, N.Y. (AP) — Toronto's Maple Leafs qualified for the Little World Series for the first time since 1934 by eliminating the Rochester Red Wings Thursday night, 8-4, for a 4-1 final round International League playoff victory.

Toronto, which swept its first round series from Buffalo, 4-0, roared to a 7-0 lead before the Red Wings broke through the delivery of Al Cicotte for 4 runs on two homers in the 7th.

Cicotte bounced back from the run shock by retiring the last 8 batters he faced. The 30-year-old righty started, finished and won all 3 of his playoff starts.

Tim Thompson reached starter-loser Dick Ricketts for a two-run homer in the 4th as Toronto started a string of 3 straight scoring deuces.

Toronto's victory was worth $10,000 in playoff prize money. The Leafs now wait for the outcome of the Denver-Louisville series for a Little World Series opponent.

St. Mary's Impresses In 39-0 Seward Win

By Al Beebe

David City—Hustling David City St. Mary's — with speed, poise and size — made short work of Class B Seward here Thursday night, 39-0.

The win was the 17th in a row for the defending Class C state champs, ranked 2nd in this week's ratings. This was the most impressive of the 3 victories this season.

The Knights kept the pressure on Seward all the way and capitalized on numerous BlueJay mistakes to run up the tally.

Seward had the ball in St. Mary's territory only 3 times — twice on fumble recoveries after which it couldn't gain. The other occasion, as heavy rain started in the 3rd quarter, was on a sustained drive which faltered at the DCSM 15.

That Seward drive was started by a 30-yard Gary Davisson to Larry Eickman pass and helped by the running of Davisson and Terry Vogt.

But St. Mary's already held a 33-0 lead by that time, after grabbing a 26-0 halftime margin.

The Knights opened the scoring late in the first quarter after all-state quarterback Dennis Kirby recovered a fumble at the Seward 44. Ben Homan ran to the 27, and then sophomore Pat Kirby scooted to the TD from there.

A bad center pass into the end zone on Seward's next downs gave the Knights a safety.

The Seward kickoff from the 20 after the safety ended at the Bluejay 40, and DCSM used 10 plays to go the distance, D. Kirby sneaking the final yard early in the second quarter.

St. Mary's had to work for its next TD, moving 65 yards in 6 plays, Dennis Kirby running the final 32 on a keeper.

A fumble on Seward's first play after the kickoff set up the Knights on the Seward 30, and D. Kirby hit 6-7, 225-pound end Gene Coleman with a scoring pass on the first play.

DCSM wrapped it up with 2 second half touchdowns. A short punt helped set up a 22-yard scoring run by Jerry Reisdorff, and all-state center Don Svoboda shifted to fullback for a final 23-yard touchdown.

Ewbank's Old Timers Can't Be Rousted Out

Baltimore (AP)—Coach Weeb Ewbank's main concern when he rounded up his defending champion Baltimore Colts for the 1960 season in July was the "overall age of our defensive line."

It still is, with the opening game of the National Football League season against Washington only 3 days away.

Ewbank found no one to satisfy him as a replacement for any of his veterans in the front line trench.

Nor did he fulfill his search for a new offensive lineman, although there's still a chance he will.

Seek 3rd Title

The Colts will start out trying to become the first club to win 3 straight NFL championships with only 7 newcomers. Two of them were picked up within the past week after being cut by other league members.

Only two changes were made by Ewbank in his first string offensive and defensive squad. Alex Hawkins will be the No. 1 left halfback on the attack and Bob Boyd will be one of the defensive halfbacks.

Hawkins probably would have had the job last season after L. G. Dupre was hurt, but the former South Carolina collegian also was injured.

Mike Sommer, a Washington castoff, was picked up to play the last 8 games. He was taken this season by the new Dallas entry.

Boyd Takes Over

Boyd, a rookie from Oklahoma, will replace 32-year-old Carl Taseff in the pass protective corps. Taseff is to sub in both the offensive and defensive backfields.

The Colt offense will revolve as usual around the passing of quarterback John Unitas to halfback Lenny Moore and ends Raymond Berry and Jim Mutscheller.

Billy Pricer may be seen running a lot more at fullback instead of Alan Ameche, who has carried much of the load in the past couple of seasons.

The aging defensive giants who may hold the key to the Colt championship aspirations are Art Donovan, 35, Gino Marchetti, 35, Don Joyce, 31, Daddy Lipscomb, 29, and Ordell Braase, 28.

Palmer Off Fast In Bid At Portland

Portland, Ore. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, seeking to become the biggest winner of golf tournament money in history, got off to a flying start in the $27,500 Portland Open Thursday.

He scored 7 birdies in his opening 18-hole round for a 32-34—66 on the par 35-37—72 Portland Golf Club course, and emerged only one stroke behind the first-day leader, young Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., who had 33-32—65.

Additional Sports Are On Page 28

The 26-year-old Rudolph scored an eagle and 6 birdies.

Two others tied Palmer. They were Huston La Clair, Birmingham, Ala., who had 31-35—66 and Paul Harney, Worcester, Mass., 35-31—66.

Palmer, of Ligonier, Pa., has earned $70,566 in Professional Golf Association tournaments this year, plus $5,132 more in best-ball exhibitions.

He needs the $2,800 first-prize in this tournament to top the previous high in PGA winnings. That was the $72,835 won by Ted Kroll in 1956.

WOMEN BOWL 2,371 SERIES

Ernie's Store of Ceresco team bowled a 2,371 team scratch series including a team high game of 879 Thursday in the Havelock Ladies League at Northeast Lanes.

Team members and scores were: Kay Beem, 177-126-143—446; Marion Knight, 205-207-130—542; Madeline Murphy, 156-105-181—442; Ruby Mathews, 164-135-150—449; and Opal Bartzatt, 177-147-168—492.

Yank Pennant Cinch, But Series Talk Out

New York, (AP)—Although the magic number for clinching the pennant now is 5 over Chicago and 4 over Baltimore, the New York Yankees are not taking anything for granted.

With the next 6 of their remaining 9 games to be played on the road, manager Casey Stengel balks at looking ahead toward any World Series.

Stengel named Bob Turley (8-3) to oppose Boston's Billy Muffett (6-3) in this afternoon's series opener at Fenway Park.

The Yanks will send Art Ditmar (15-9) against Bill Monbouquette (14-11) Saturday and Ralph Terry (9-8) against Tom Brewer (10-13) in the Sunday finale at Boston.

If the Yanks keep on winning and the White Sox stumble against Cleveland and the Orioles fail in Washington, Stengel's 10th pennant could be wrapped up over the weekend.

New York has a 6-game winning streak.

However, it is more likely that the clinching will drag on a little longer, perhaps to the end of the season.

The Yanks go to Washington for 3 night games next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and then come home to finishup the year next Friday night, Saturday and Sunday afternoons against the Red Sox.

New York has a 9-7 edge over Boston for the season with 6 games to go.

—THE WOMAN BEHIND THE MAN—

Mrs. Kennedy Longs To Help In Campaign

By Mary Cremmens

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a series of 5 articles on Jacqueline Kennedy, wife of Democratic presidential nominee Sen. John F. Kennedy, by Mary Cremmens, nationally known feature writer.)

"I have never in my life been as torn as I am now," said Jacqueline Kennedy. She explained with such deep feeling, "I am delighted to be expecting the baby Jack and I have longed for and yet, at this particular time in my life, I should be traveling, working, doing every single thing I could to help him win the election."

Jacqueline shook her head, "I feel paralyzed."

She is expecting her second baby in December and, under doctor's orders, must do none of the things mentioned above.

Can you describe your husband?

"I certainly think so," was the answer. "The most interesting thing about him is his ability to make decisions quickly, no matter how great the pressure."

Mrs. Kennedy believes this great asset is helped by his ability to take a 5-minute nap, "anytime, anywhere. It refreshes him. He never gets overtired so it is easy for him to think clearly and make up his mind."

She continued about her husband, "He is tenacious. No amount of work is ever too much. Now he must work like a dog until November."

There was unmistakable admiration to her voice as she continued, "He has incredibly high ideals. I often think he's a romanticist — not romantic, but idealistic.

"I always rely on him for judgment.

"I can look at him and think objectively, if there were ever a war he's the only one who could save us."

Jacqueline spoke of her husband's "great intellectual curiosity. He will never be top-heavy with politics."

She emphasized how the man is "interested in everything. When I studied French literature, he went right along with me. It was the same with furniture. Jack read books about it.

"We both have curious, inquiring minds — that's the reason we chose each other. I have always felt so alive with him.

"From the minute we had Caroline," the young mother smiled, "he has been interested in all his friends' children."

For the first time, Jacqueline raised her velvet-like voice, "It makes me so mad when people say Jack is not warm but cold and calculating. He loves to laugh, he is so affectionate with his daughter. She has made him so much happier. A man without a child is incomplete.

"Now, one of his favorite quotes is 'He who has a wife and child gives hostages to fortune.'

"Once you have a child," she said, "you don't think of yourself so much but of the generation ahead. Any sacrifice is made with joy."

She added a happy, "He was so considerate of me last spring when we were traveling. Jack knew I was shy—not the extrovert, political type—and did not have the stamina for rigorous campaigning. Often, before we reached a town, he would suggest I leave the motorcade and go back to the hotel."

Are you upset by criticism of Jack?

"When we were first married—yes. But Jack has taught me that I must not take politics personally. He said that politics arouses the most heated emotions in people. It gets them the angriest."

Jacqueline has learned to take it all objectively.

"I separate politics from my private life—maybe that's why I treasure my life at home so much."

What she could never face is having "politics hurt my children."

How do you want people to think of you?

She replied softly, "I don't have any desire to force myself into people's minds." She admitted, "It makes me uncomfortable to read about myself in the newspaper."

Any last words?

49ER DEFENSE SHAKEN UP

Redwood City, Calif. (AP)—Coach Red Hickey shook up his San Francisco 49er defenses in preparation for the National Football League opener Sunday against the New York Giants.

Fans in San Francisco's Kezar Stadium will see and old face in a new position as 8-year pro veteran Ed Henke switches to middle linebacker for the first time in his 49er career. The 230-pounder has been a fixture at defensive end.

Henke becomes the 5th player tried at middle linebacker as Hickey strives to fill the gap there.

Denver Seeks Third Straight AFL Upset

. . . BRONCOS TACKLE TITANS

By Associated Press

The high flying Denver Broncos, surprise leaders of the Western Division, take on the New York Titans and the winless Buffalo Bills entertain the Boston Patriots in American Football League games tonight.

The Broncos, one of the two undefeated teams in the league, have done a complete about-face since the start of the regular season. In 5 exhibition games, the Broncos yielded exactly 200 points—40 a game. They didn't win one.

But with a 2-0 regular-season record, coach Frank Filchock's operatives have jelled. They have shown a good-looking offense and a fine defense.

The new Broncos whipped Boston in the opener, 13-10, then came back with a 27-21 decision over Buffalo.

New York, the league defensive leader, shows a 1-1 record with only 31 points scored-against. Coach Sammy Baugh's main problem has been to get more punch in his lineup.

He indicated he probably will keep his starting backfield unit of Al Dorow, Ted Wegert, Don Maynard and Pete Hart intact, but will give more work to Bill Shockley and Leon Burton at left half and Blanche Martin and Bill Mathis at fullback.

Buffalo now has a winless streak of 4 games—two exhibitions and two regular season, but coach Buster Ramsey isn't discouraged.

He thinks the Bills played well in defeat against Denver. The Broncos intercepted a half dozen Buffalo passes and two of them led to touchdowns.

The last interception, in the final minute of play, cost the Bills the victory.

Ramsey also pointed out that Richie Lucas, late of Penn State, was not available because of injuries against the Broncos. He'll be ready for the Patriots, though.

Sunday's games send the undefeated Houston Oilers to Oakland and the Los Angeles Chargers to Dallas.

AFL's Boss Disallows NY Protest

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — Commissioner Joe Foss Thursday disallowed the New York Titans' protest of their 24-28 loss to the Boston Patriots in an American League football game played at New York Saturday night.

Foss announced his ruling after conferring with Bob Austin, AFL supervisor of officials, whom he had sent to New York to view films of the game's controversial final play

"The films show there was an error in judgment by the officials on the game's final play, but our games will always be decided on the field and not by viewing movies after the contests.

"I feel that in any sports where the human element is involved, films would show that there were judgment errors committed. Records through the years testify to this. But we have excellent, experienced officials in the American Football League and we have every possible confidence in their abilities."

Phils' Dick Farrell Slated For Yanks?

. . . RELIEFER IS TRADE BAIT

Philadelphia (AP)—Dick Farrell, standout relief pitcher of the Philadelphia Phillies, will ply his trade elsewhere next year, possibly with the New York Yankees, it was learned Thursday.

The Phillies apparently are developing their young left hander, Chris Short, to pick up the relief slack in anticipation of dealing the 26-year-old Farrell.

Also headed for other surroundings is pitcher Jim Owens, whose off field activities have resulted in several fines and disenchanted general manager John Quinn and manager Gene Mauch.

Owens appears bound for the St. Louis Cardinals for an infielder, maybe Daryl Spencer.

Farrell, who has been used sparingly in recent days, reportedly complained about inactivity to manager Mauch and was told he is on the trading block.

The big fireballer has a 10-6 record so far this year. He has been anxious to improve on it in order to retrieve the large salary slice he took this year.

It is no secret that the Yankees covet the 6 foot, 4 inch, 220-pound relief pitcher With Ryne Duren having a bad year, the New Yorkers have been hurting in the bullpen.

Manager Casey Stengel has been dependent on Bobby Shantz who suffers recurring arm miseries. Also, it is known that Asst. General Manager Roy Hamey of the Yanks and his chief scout, Mayo Smith, have sounded out the Phillies on a deal for Farrell.

Hamey was general manager, and Smith manager of the Phiies when Farrell broke into major league basebayy with the club at the end of the 1956 season.

Both have been high on him ever since. Smith recently was quoted as saying of Farrell, "I could hand him the ball in the late innings and it was like turning the lights off on the hitters."

Smith, of course, referred to the 1957 season when Farrell won 10 and lost 2.

The following year the right hander slipped badly, winding up with an 8-9 record. In 1959 he was 1-6. This year, however, the Brookline, Mass., native has essayed a comeback.

Patterson Will Defend In Sweden If Pushed

Stockholm, (AP) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson said Thursday he is ready to defend his title against Ingemar Johansson in Sweden if he is pushed too much by "certain persons" in the United States. He did not elaborate.

"If I am pushed in a certain direction which I do not want to reveal, but that certain persons will understand, I will have the next title fight here in Sweden and I am sure Ingemar has nothing against it," he said.

Patterson has been making an exhibition tour of Sweden since August. He expects to return to New York in about 3 weeks.

The champion has been quoted in a New York report from Stockholm as being bitter abount rankings of the National Boxing Association.

In the September NBA ratings, Sonny Liston of Philadelphia was listed No. 1 contender and Johansson No. 2.

"I have no reason to charge the NBA with anything," said Patterson." There must be some misunderstanding. I have the title and I do not think that the NBA rating will make the return match unattractive."

Erskine Warms Up

Cardiff, Wales (AP) — Welsh heavyweight Joe Erskine, warming up for his crack at Henry Cooper's British title, stopped Spanish Champion Jose Gonzalez in the 5th round of a scheduled 10-rounder Thursday night. Erskine weighed 191 pounds, Gonzalez 197.

Bosox Deny Reports On Ted's Plans

Boston (AP) — The Boston Red Sox Thursday refused to give credence to a report that 42-year-old Ted Williams will return next season as a pinchhitter and part owner of the club.

Williams, the great left-handed slugger who has announced he is quitting at the end of this campaign, was not available for comment.

An article in the Boston American by Hugh Wheelwright Thursday stated that Williams will play next year. The story said Ted would take the maximum 25 per cent pay cut — or more if legally possible — in exchange for which he'll receive shares of stock from club owner Tom Yawkey.

The article further said Williams' acquisition of stock would put him in line to "take over as either manager or general manager whenever the need arises."

A Red Sox spokesman dismissed the story, remarking:

"We haven't got time to chase down every story speculating about Williams' future. Ted has no formal meeting set with Yawkey. But because theirs is far more than a business relationship they see each other often. Neither has any comment on it but it is likely they already have an understanding about Ted's future.

"When this understanding will be made public — or if it will at all before the season ends — is not known to the rest of us," the spokesman added.

Williams has repeatedly stated this season will be his la[illegible] He returned to Boston ahead of the ball club for examination of his injured right ankle.

Dr. Ralph McCarthy said Ted should be able to pinch-hit against New York today.

Thompson Abandons Attempts

Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah (AP) — Mickey Thompson of El Monte, Calif., has abandoned his effort to smash the international auto speed record.

The 31-year-old drag strip operator ended his current series of speed runs after reaching only 305 miles per hour in one spin Wednesday. Thompson said little bubbles of Salt forming on the 12-mile straighaway course cut his traction in half and caused the wheels to spin independently.

Thompson became the world's fastest auto driver two weeks ago when his Challenger I reached 406.6 miles per hour in one run across the Western Utah salt flats. But mechanical difficulties prevented the second run. The average of two runs is required for a record.

Bar Group For Nuclear Control On State Level

The committee on atomic energy law of the Nebraska State Bar Association favors legislation which would place control of nuclear activity on a state level.

The committee will present this recommendation as part of its report to the 61st annual meeting of the State Bar Association in Omaha Oct. 6 and 7. The House of Delegates will meet Oct. 5.

The committee, with Robert H. Berkshire of Omaha as chairman, suggested that the committee remain in existence to work with a still unnamed state coordinator of atomic development activities.

The recommendation was made "in view of the fact that legislation may be presented at the 1961 session of the Legislature which will be the basis for the state's first assumption of control in the nuclear field."

The 1959 Legislature passed a bill providing that the governor appoint a state officer as coordinator of atomic activity in the state. The coordinator has not been named yet.

To qualify for assuming responsibilities in the atomic energy field, Nebraska must satisfy the Atomic Energy Commission it has statutory authority to exercise control now being exercised by the AEC, the committee said.

Under a law signed by President Eisenhower early in 1960, a state may assume control over by-product material (radioisotopes), source material (uranium and thorium) and special nuclear material of less than a critical mass.

"Everyone will agree that it is a laudable objective to decentralize governmental control when possible and, further, that the legal profession has an interest in any legislation which may be proposed to effect the decentralization of control from the federal to the state level," the committee said.

The committee said it was also cooperating with the American Bar Association's committee on atomic attack to determine what legal problems may arise from an atomic attack.

The University of Nebraska law school, through Professor Richard Harnsberger, is also interested in the problem, the committee reported.

The committee said Harnsberger plans as a student project the investigation of problems in storing vital records when a disaster of even limited proportions causes destruction of such property.

Liquor Commission Sets Hearing Oct. 5

The Nebraska Liquor Control Commission reported Thursday it has set a hearing for Oct. 5 on the application of a Class C liquor license by Harold P. Savidge of Oakdale.

The commission said protests have been filed against the application.

The commission also reported that William D. Bollin of Blair, holder of a retail beer license, has pleaded guilty to accepting merchandising credit for over 30 days and failing to file a monthly credit report.

A hearing previously set for Sept. 28 has therefore been cancelled.

Ike Gets A Warm Greeting

...From New Yorkers

New York (AP) — New Yorkers, who virtually ignored Soviet Premier Khrushchev's arrival 3 days ago, turned out Thursday in great crowds for a cheering, waving, flag-flaunting welcome to President Eisenhower. Police estimated 125,000 persons greeted the leader of the Western world, here to address the United Nations.

The reception obviously moved the President, who had departed Washington in early morning in a solemn mood. He stood up in his limousine to smile and wave at welcomers along his route from Idlewild Airport into Manhattan.

After his United Nations speech, Eisenhower was host at a luncheon for 18 representatives of Latin American nations—not including Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Conferences at Hotel

The President's afternoon was spent in conferences at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel with various other heads of state here for the momentous U.N. General Assembly, including leaders of some of the new African states. Eisenhower's final appointment for the day was with President Tito of Yugoslavia, a Communist who is at odds with the Moscow bloc of Red nations.

Tito and Eisenhower met for one hour in the U.S. President's 35th floor suite in the Waldorf Towers. Afterwards, Tito had no comment, but the President's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, told newsmen the two leaders met in "a cordial atmosphere."

"The usefulness of direct exchange of views was recognized by both parties," said Hagerty. "Both expressed pleasure at the opportunity to come togther and exchange views."

Pointedly omitted from Eisenhower's schedule was Khrushchev. The two have been at odds since the collapse of last spring's Paris Summit meeting.

STOCK MARKET OFF SLIGHTLY

New York (AP) — The stock market declined a little Thursday on the smallest volume in nearly a year.

Turnover was 1.97 million shares compared with Wednesday's 2.93 million and was the lightest since the semiholiday Columbus Day session of Oct. 12, 1959 when the total was 1.75 million shares.

The start of the Jewish religious holidays was the main reason cited for the slack turnover.

Meanwhile, the over-all business picture was not inspiring. Motors were depressed by word that Chrysler plans to layoff 5,000 workers because of big inventories of unsold cars in dealers' hands.

Steels, rails, nonferrous metals, chemicals, drugs, electronics and most aircrafts lost ground.

The Dow Jones industrial average dropped 2.11 to 592.15.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .60 to 211.60 with the industrials off 1.20, the rails off .60 and the utilities up .10.

American Stock Exchange prices also declined. Volume was 1.01 million shares compared with Wednesday's 1.02 million.

Corporate bonds worked higher on balance. U.S. governments showed slight change.

Trading declined to $3.81 million on the New York Stock Exchange — lowest of the week — from $4.73 million Wednesday.

Tito Raps Western Policies As Warlike

. . . Speaks To U.N. After Chat With Khrush

United Nations, N.Y. (UPI) — Lone wolf Communist leader President Tito of Yugoslavia Thursday followed the tough Soviet-style line to denounce Western policies as warlike and demand a seat for Communist China in his maiden address before the United Nations General Assembly.

The Yugoslav president, whose "independent road to socialism" theory led to a break with the Kremlin and made Yugoslavia the maverick Communist nation, spoke after a private 10-minute chat with Soviet Premier Khrushchev — their fifth meeting since 1949.

Tito followed President Eisenhower to the rostrum and later scheduled a meeting with the chief executive at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Forsakes Marshal's Tunic

Forsaking his usual belted marshal's tunic for a neat, dark gray suit, Tito was a burly, be-spectacled figure as he stood before the 96-nation assemblage.

At the conclusion of his speech, Khrushchev and the rest of the Soviet delegation burst into applause.

Speaking from a typewritten sheaf of pages, Tito accused circles in the West of fostering "colonialism" in Africa, reviving militarism in West Germany and continuing the war in Algeria.

He endorsed Khrushchev's call for "complete and general disarmament" and demanded, as his and other Communist nations have every year, that Communist China be voted into the U.N.

One horsepower is the strength necessary to lift 550 pounds to a height of one foot in one second.

Rejection Of Bigotry Cheers Kennedy Worker

State Senator Hans O. Jensen, chairman of Citizens for Kennedy in Nebraska, says he is encouraged that many Protestant ministers in Nebraska are denouncing the wave of religious bigotry currently sweeping the country.

He cited a sermon by Rev. Peter S. Raible, pastor of All Souls' Unitarian Church in Lincoln, as an example of enlightened Protestantism.

Raible said he was "convinced without qualification that Americans have nothing to fear from John Kennedy as our President.

"The campaign challenges our good sense, our concern for the future of our nation, and our commitment to the cause of all mankind," Raible added.

Speeder Jailed

Police jailed a 27-year-old Lincoln man after he was observed traveling at a high rate of speed on O Street. He admitted to police that he was driving 65-miles-an-hour.

Church Letter Hitting Reds Is Withdrawn

Warsaw (AP) — Roman Catholic leaders recently withdrew a pastoral letter condemning Polish Communist attacks on the church at the insistence of government officials because it might embarrass Wladyslaw Gomulka at the U.N. in New York, informed sources reported.

The letter, signed by Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, was one of the most outspoken church statements in recent years.

It had been distributed to parish priests to be read from pulpits last Sunday, church sources said. The government learned of the controversial contents of the letter, however, and warned that it must not be made public, these sources continued.

Deep Sea Ear

London (AP) — Giant NATO fleets taking part in North Atlantic maneuvers tried out one answer to the submarine threat—a helicopter with listening gear which dips into the sea.

Girl Tells Police Man Threatened Her With Rifle

Police are holding a 21-year-old Lincoln man who allegedly threatened a West Lincoln girl with a rifle Tuesday night.

The man was identified by the girl Thursday during a police lineup.

The girl told West Lincoln police that the youth threatened her with a rifle and then dismantled the rifle and threatened to hit her with it.

Finds $25,000 Ring

Paris (UPI) — A Paris chambermaid found a $25,000 emerald ring lost by the wife of oilman Andrew Fuller of Fort Worth, Tex.

Hurricane Ole!

Havana (UPI)—Hurricanes with American names will no longer hit Cuba under the new regulations issued by the government weather bureau. Future hurricanes will have Cuban code names like Arimao and Banao instead of Abbey and Bertha. They will also be numbered.

CAPABLE PRIVATE SECRETARIES, please note. Somewhere there is someone who wants and can qualify for my job. For five years I have been the private secretary to the president of a progressive, aggressive, fast growing firm in Lincoln. I love my job because it is so intensely interesting and the people with whom I work are so congenial and cooperative. Mine is a responsible position where trustworthiness is paramount, accuracy with dispatch is essential, and intelligence is a prerequisite. Now, for purely personal reasons and natura causes, I am compelled to resign this choice position. I enthusiastically agreed to help my employer find a qualified replacement. Therefore, if this opportunity interests you and you believe your experience and ability can qualify, won't you please write to me, knowing that your inquiry will be held in strict confidence. Please accompany your letter with a complete description of your background, education and experience. State salary requirement, marital status and such other personal data as may be pertinent. Please act promptly because this position must be filled before mid-October—sooner if possible. Address: Mrs. Secretary, Journal-Star Box 46. 26

Vice Presidential Nominee LBJ Gives Challenge To Khrushchev

Lyndon Johnson Thursday issued a 6-point challenge to Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The Democratic vice presidential nominee addressed Khrushchev in a short, 5-minute talk to a couple hundred Democrats at a public reception at the Cornhusker Hotel.

"What are you willing to do? Johnson asked the Russian premier on these 6 matters:

—ensure a peaceful world.

—disarmament.

—wipe out illiteracy in less fortunate nations.

—educate the young of the world.

—help improve the health of undeveloped nations.

—wipe out poverty.

"Yes, Mr. Khrushchev?" Johnson concluded. "We are listening."

What Is Important?

What is important in the U.S. political campaign, the senator said, is "not who can stand up to Khrushchev, who can argue with him in a kitchen or who can shout the loudest."

It is important, Johnson noted, "to let him know that we are as one people, united and willing to stand up and be counted against Communism."

Johnson and his wife, Ladybird, signed autographs, grasped hands and visited with Lincolnites at the hotel for about 15 minutes.

Ladybird Makes Hit

Clad in a bright red dress and "chilly" from the first brisk fall day of the year, Ladybird Johnson was a smash hit in Lincoln Thursday.

She drew heavy attention on the University of Nebraska campus where she appeared with her senator husband.

Mrs. Johnson is in her tenth year of campaigning with LBJ.

Bright Red

She wore the bright red costume, she said, "not to stand out in a crowd, but because Lyndon likes them."

But, she added: "I sometimes defy him in the name of comfort."

As for the question of the wardrobes of Pat Nixon and Jackie Kennedy, she said she hoped that voters "make up their minds over something more relevant to the welfare of the country."

Mrs. Johnson and her husband were enrolled as honorary members of the University of Nebraska Young Democrats by Chairman Don Ferguson.

Lincoln General Wards Observed

Lincoln General Hospital's progressive patient care wards have been under observation by several hospitals west of the Mississippi River who are making plans for initiating the program.

Officials of the Bethany Hospital in Kansas City, Kan. visited Lincoln General Thursday and indicated they are thinking of establishing the intensive care program to fulfill the need of more concentrated care of patients.

Lincoln General is the only hospital west of the Mississippi which has 4 units of the 5 in the progressive patient care program: intensive, intermediate, self, and home. The fifth one is convalescent care.

Grenade Wounds 26

Algiers, Algeria (AP) — A grenade explosion wounded 26 persons in a crowded main street of Constantine.

Katanga Gets U.N. Warning

Elisabethville, Katanga (AP) — The United Nations notified its field commanders that their authority would overrule Katanga's in quelling any disturbances within the province.

"Resist the Katanga army or police if they use harsh methods in stamping out anti-government uprisings by rebel tribesmen," the orders said.

Johnson Says Eisenhower Took 'Position Of Peace'

Omaha (UPI) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson said Thursday that the position President Eisenhower took in his address before the United Nations "was a position of peace, a position which emphasized America's deep yearning for a world in which law, order, honor and justice shall prevail."

The Democratic vice presidential candidate told 500 persons at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon here that the President's statement "threw into sharp focus one of the most important issues in this campaign."

"We have heard it said frequently that the issue is who can face up to Khrushchev," he said. "I do not believe this is the issue at all. I believe the issue is who can make Khrushchev face up to the overriding issues of war and peace in the modern world.

"Many Americans have faced up to Khrushchev," he said. "But so far no one has been able to make him face up to the problems of our times.

"Our nation should say to him that it is time to stop throwing atomic tantrums," Johnson said. "Our nation should say to him it is time to stop rattling ballistic sabers.

"Our nation should say to him it is time to face up to the problems of international cooperation in feeding the hungry and the underprivileged of the world," the Senate majority leader said.

"Khrushchev has promised some startling new proposals when he speaks tomorrow," he said. "The world has grown weary of promises and of startling new proposals which turn out to be the same old Communist line warmed over by yesterday's roast beef hash."

Johnson also challenged "the right of the Republican Party to claim expert knowledge of prudent fiscal management."

"I believe it is time that we try it the Democratic way.

"I think it is time that we unleash the tremendous forces in our country—forces which are capable of running our productive wealth up to a point where we can afford all the things that we need without going into debt and without increasing taxes."

Johnson was greeted by some 200 persons upon his arrival at Eppley Airfield.

LBJ Praises Past Senators From Nebraska

Omaha (UPI) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) praised present and past senators from Nebraska during his talk at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon here Thursday.

The late Sens. Kenneth Wherry and Hugh Butler were called "great leaders" by the Democratic vice presidential nominee.

Johnson noted that he sat "right across the aisle" from Nebraska Sen. Roman Hruska, a Republican, adding "we get together often to discuss current affairs."

Sen. Carl Curtis, also a Republican, was praised as an able senator by the Texan, who quickly added: "I hope you keep him here with you after the November election, and that you send Robert Conrad to Washington to work with me."

Conrad is the Democratic nominee who faces Curtis in the upcoming election.

A Critical Year

Bonn (UPI)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer predicted that the Berlin situation will remain critical for at least a year.

Scientists are thinking of attaching miniature radio transmitters to grizzly bears in an effort to keep track of their wanderings during the fall.

Wedding Set

Brussels (UPI)—King Baudouin and his Spanish fiancee, Dona Fabiola de Mora Y Aragon, will be married here in the second week in November.

The "unimportant" signs of mental illness a parent refuses to see

Read about them in "Good-by, My Son" —a $4 Book condensed in October Reader's Digest

If mental illness suddenly showed its terrifying presence in your family, what would you do? Would you ignore early warnings because you preferred to believe what you wanted to believe—as did the father who tells the chilling story of his son's battle with insanity in "Good-by, My Son"? Could you match this father's courage . . . live with the haunting question: "Will he get well?" Measure yourself against this gripping true story.
